Western Progressives, Turned Down By Coolidge In Naming Stone, Threaten To Revolt

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1924, by The Times.)
WASHINGTON, April 4.—Disappointment in the ranks of the "progressives" in Congress over the failure of President Coolidge to nominate Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa to be Attorney General was not concealed today.

While no doubt is expressed as to the legal ability of Dean Stone, the most of many of the Western Senators is that the President had an opportunity to recognize the progressive element of the west and did not accept it. To the insurgent wing of the Republican party the name of Kenyon was more than that of an individual; it was a symbol of conservatism.

There are those who regard the manner in which Mr. Coolidge dealt with the appointment of a new Attorney General as his crossing of the Rubicon. They consider that the President made his choice with the so-called

To Report Revenue Bill Next Week

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Adjournment of the senate over Saturday was proposed in a program outlined today by Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee, looking to completion of work on the revenue bill by tomorrow night, so a report on the measure may be made to the senate Monday or Tuesday. The week-end adjournment would give the committee an entire day on the bill and he thought this might be sufficient.

Starting on the excise rate schedule, the only remaining section of the bill to be taken up, the committee last night approved the reduction in automobile taxes and repeal of the tax on candy voted by the house. New taxes, however, were voted—ten per cent on radio sets selling for $15 or more and ten per cent on Mah Jongg sets selling for $5 or more, both levied on the manufacturers.

G. O. P. Chief Accused In Land Fraud Case

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Examination of Rush D. Simmons, chief of the division of postoffice inspectors, was the principal item on today's program of the senate committee investigating alleged land frauds in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas. James R. Page, of Kansas City, Mo., who is aiding Senator William D. Hearnes, of Alabama, in prosecution of the inquiry, also called for the presence of Postoffice Inspector O. B. Williamson, who was assigned to the case after Inspector J. M. Donaldson, of Kansas City, was relieved.

The issuance of a subpoena for John W. H. Crim, former assistant to the attorney general, whose name was brought into the investigation yesterday in the reading of a telegram to Simmons, awaited the return of Chairman Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, who was hurriedly called out of the city yesterday.

Yesterday's session produced evidence in the "prosecution" described as showing that R. B. Cragger, Republican National Committeeman from Texas, attempted to use political influence with former Attorney General Daugherty to halt action against land companies in the Rio Grande Valley.

Langley Enters Plea Of Not Guilty; Asks Early Trial

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Representative John W. Langley, Republican, Kentucky, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned in District of Columbia supreme court today on conspiracy charges in connection with alleged illegal liquor withdrawal permits and asked the court for an early trial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—On request of Langley's counsel, the court allowed twenty days in which the defense might enter a demurrer, but the attorneys said they did not expect to take advantage of the privilege.

"We want a trial at the earliest possible moment," Langley said. "We want to go to the mat with them in this case."

Millard F. West, former deputy commissioner of internal revenue, named in one of the charges, entered a plea of not guilty.

The house committee which is investigating similar charges against Representative Zihlman, Republican, Maryland, meanwhile, took up in executive session a study of documentary evidence and also summoned George J. Ettenberg, former employee of Edward Robinson, one-time proprietor of the Federal Drug and Chemical Company of Baltimore.

The charges against the two representatives were developed incidentally during investigation of the veterans' bureau fraud case by a Chicago grand jury.

Condemn Ten
Men to Death
GHENT, BELGIUM, April 4.—A trial which surpassed all records in the history of Belgian justice has just been concluded in the eastern Flanders Assizes with a verdict condemning ten men to death, seven to life imprisonment, five to twenty years, four to fifteen years and one to twelve years.

The men were a band of 30 criminals who operated with practical impunity throughout Belgium Flanders in the period immediately following the armistice, profiting by the disorganization of the police at that time. Forty distinct crimes were charged against them and the jury in its verdict had to pass on 343 questions.

Only nine of the defendants were acquitted. The trial lasted a month.

From High Finance To Ordinary Bandh
CHICAGO, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—From the head of a $100,000,000 promotion concern to a robber facing a charge of accessory to murder within a year, is the story told by Russell T. Scott, formerly of Cleveland, and Toronto, Canada, held in connection with the killing of Joseph Maurer, a drug clerk in a store in the heart of the business district Wednesday night.

Scott says at one time he was vice president of the R. T. Scott Company Limited, of Toronto, which had branches in a dozen cities and a payroll of $500,000. He helped to promote the Detroit-Windsor International Bridge, he said. When a Boston, Mass., woman filed a $50,000 breach of promise suit against him, Scott already married, left Toronto and the business went into a receiver's hands, he says.

Banker Wishes to Be Arrested But Officials Will Not Arrest Him

WICHITA, KANSAS, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The unusual case of a banker who wishes to be arrested for an alleged shortage in his accounts, but who cannot be arrested because no one can prove the crime was committed, although government authorities have been working on the case for weeks, is presented by L. P. Weaver, former cashier of the First National Bank at Lewis, Kansas.

A month ago Weaver confessed to the prosecuting attorney, there was a $21,000 shortage in his bank, and asked to be punished. He was unable to explain the shortage, save that he had "juggled" the accounts.

After his confession bank examiners closed the bank and went over the books. A few days later the bank re-opened and was pronounced sound by the examiners, who said they were unable to find a shortage. Weaver then came here while federal court was in session, kept the authorities posted on his movements, and awaited the summons of an officer. No summons came. Weaver was advised to forget the case and get himself a job. Today he started work for a local firm.

Johnson Scores Selection of Stone

CHICAGO, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Senator Hiram W. Johnson said in a campaign speech here today that appointment of Harlan Fiske Stone, of New York, as United States attorney general, constitutes a re-dedication of the present administration to reactionary principles. Senator Johnson was re-opening his drive for the state presidential preference in next Tuesday's primary.

"Whatever doubt may have existed in the public mind as to where Mr. Coolidge stood in the national struggle between the forces of progress and reaction was dispelled by the appointment of the new attorney general," Senator Johnson said. "The new chief of the justice department, child of the prosperous east, may be relied upon to look with tender sympathy upon the problems of the east; but to whom are the deflated farmers of the west to look for support of their cause?"

Weeks Produces Seized Records; Wheeler Going to Ohio Town To Inspect Bank's Books

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The far-sweeping eye of the —aggressive investigating committee today encompassed a vast array of scattered activities including air service frauds, drug smuggling and federal paroles at the Atlanta penitentiary, transactions at a Daugherty bank in Ohio and reported liquor drinking at the "Little Green House on K. Street."

The reference to the K. Street rendezvous here came near the end of a long committee session when Daniel Smith, formerly negro butler for Howard Mannington at the Green House, testified that whiskey and gin had been delivered in twenty case lots, carried by express company wagons under the protection of a man with a badge and a gun, Harry M. Daugherty's Harry Sinclair, Will Orr, and "Mr. Christian" were named by the witness as among Mannington's visitors.

J. E. Dyche, former warden of the Atlanta prison, told of extensive use of drugs among prisoners and said he made repeated and ineffectual efforts to induce Mr. Daugherty and other Votaw, federal superintendent of prisons, to help stop it. Instead he said Votaw's intervention resulted in suspension of an investigation started by W. J. Burns. Burns himself then was summoned with the records in the case.

Dyche said he had heard "prisoner talk" of money payments for paroles, but no first hand talk of corruption. He disclaimed any knowledge of photographs produced by Senator Wheeler, prosecutor, purporting to show a contract by which Elmer H. Morfing was to receive $50,000 upon the parole of Charles Vincent, of Baltimore, a liquor law violator, who never was paroled.

The affairs of the Midland National Bank at Washington, Court House, Ohio, of which Mal S. Daugherty, the former attorney general's brother, is president, were discussed at an executive session and it was decided that Senator Wheeler should go to Ohio to enforce its demand to inspect the books of the institution.

Behind closed doors the committee also looked over all service records submitted by Secretary Weeks.

Asked about the Atlanta drug investigation, Burns said his agents told him "that Mr. Votaw stopped it." The director also said he had told Assistant Attorney General Holland of the situation at Atlanta and thought he also had told Daugherty about it.

Burns said he believed the investigation would have reached the "men higher up" if it had been allowed to go on. He said it was "unquestionably true," that "an influential ring" was bringing up the case.

It also was revealed by Burns, that, like Edward B. McLean, Fred W. Upham, of Chicago, treasurer of the Republican national committee, has served as a "dollar-a-year" secret agent of the justice department. He said Upham was enrolled because he was going to Europe and the badge and commission would save him trouble.

May Cio Daugherty
Having failed to induce Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general to come here with records of his Washington Court House, Ohio, bank, the committee decided to send Senator Wheeler to Ohio to enforce its demands that the bank's books be thrown open to it. The date for the trip is yet to be fixed.

From Secretary Weeks the committee received a batch of air service records bearing on charges of failure to prosecute war time frauds. The documents were examined in executive session and the secretary's personal appearance for questioning was delayed until later. Senator Wheeler, prosecutor of the inquiry, then called to the stand J. E. Dyche, now an Oklahoma City prohibition agent and formerly a member of the Atlanta penitentiary, who testified about narcotic prosecutions. Among other things he said he had "kept after" Heber Votaw, superintendent of prisons in the justice department for nearly a year trying to get him to send agents to stop drug trafficking. Votaw is a brother-in-law of the late President Harding.

Secretary Weeks Sends Papers Demanded By Committee
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Secretary Weeks complied today with the request of the senate Daugherty committee for certain papers bearing on aircraft cases but the personal appearance of the secretary for questioning was postponed until a later date.

The records which Mr. Weeks forwarded to Chairman Brookhart were those taken from Thomas F. Lane, former adviser to the chief of the air service, when Lane was dropped from the service. (The committee sought to get the prior version of Lane's story from Volant, who took them from Lane's desk last Volant replied that a personal summons addressed to the secretary himself would be necessary.)

Committee members announced yesterday that the secretary would be asked to take the witness stand this morning and the letter subsequently sent to Mr. Weeks by Chairman Brookhart contained no such request. It was said he would appear after the committee's present line of inquiry into charges of aircraft frauds has been completed.

In compliance of this branch of its investigation, the committee had both Volant and Lane before it today and called other witnesses having a knowledge of the government's war time aircraft program and the steps that have been taken since the armistice toward financial settlements with the firms involved.

Weeks Sends Letter
In forwarding the papers to the committee, Secretary Weeks sent this letter to Chairman Brookhart:

France And America Sign Syrian Mandate Treaty In Paris

PARIS, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincare and Ambassador Herriot this afternoon formally signed the Syrian mandate treaty under which Americans are assured full equality of rights in Syria and Lebanon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The formal signing in Paris today of a treaty assuring Americans full equality of rights under the terms of the French mandate in Syria and Lebanon establishes at the same time an acknowledgment by France that the United States, although never at war with Turkey, contributed to the defeat of that nation along with other allies of Germany.

The new convention similar to treaties with France and Belgium affecting mandated territories in Africa and with Japan relating to mandated islands in the North Pacific provides that the United States and its nationals shall enjoy the same "privileges, assurances to state members of the League of Nations."

The French acknowledgement of American assistance in the defeat of Turkey, which formerly held Syria and Lebanon is contained in the preamble and is regarded as significant in view of the discussions between the United States and Great Britain with respect to the mandate in Mesopotamia where the British government has contended that its nationals should enjoy greater privileges in that territory under its mandate than are accorded nations which were not at war with Turkey.

Fire Damages Lucasville Light Plant

Timely discovery of a fire, which originated from an overheated exhaust pipe, leading from the gasoline motor through a wooden collar in the roof, threatened the Lucasville light plant and caused a big scare in the village yesterday.

The wooden collar ignited from the hot pipe, but the flames were quickly suppressed by the prompt action of the village volunteer fire company.

The scare incident to the fire resulted from the close proximity of the light plant to business establishments, including the Zelsler Grain company's grain elevator and flouring mills on one side and the Birch Massie garage on the other.

Donahey Claims Conspiracy To Violate Truck Regulations

COLUMBUS, O., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor Donahey declared today that he believes a conspiracy of state-wide scope is in existence to evade the laws and orders of the state highway department relative to the loading of automobile trucks during the thawing weather. He believes such a conspiracy is responsible for the appearance of numerous truck drivers with badges purporting to have been given them by the state automobile department, highway department, and even the public utilities commission and supposed to furnish the driver with immunity from arrest for overloading.

The governor declared that he intends to go to the bottom of the entire matter and ascertain who is responsible for the issuance of the badges. He intimated that he will insist on vigorous prosecutions if his investigation uncovers the existence of a conspiracy.

Contractors Opposed To Scale Adopted By Lathers

Contractors and employers of city. They especially cited that building tradesmen, in session at the Mary Louise. Thursday night, announced following the meeting that they go on record as being against the proposed increase in wages wanted by the Union lathers. The increase asked for in their new agreement, which went into effect last Monday, calls for a scale of $7 per thousand and $1.12 1/2 per hour. The old scale was $6 per thousand and $1 per hour for time work.

Word today from contractors was that lathers were still on the job and probably would work right on, while an effort is made to settle the wage agreement.

More than 90 per cent of the contractors of the city directly interested in the matter to the extent of being employers of lathers, were represented at the meeting. Contractors, in explaining their stand after the meeting, stated that in their opinion the scale requested by lathers, is "disproportionate to other scales agreed upon between labor employers of the city."

The conference last night did not concern itself with other wage scale proposals, a number of which have been passed on as reasonable and agreed to. The contractors at the meeting determined to appeal to other labor unions to co-operate with them in keeping wage scales at proportionate levels, and to this end appointed a committee to call upon meetings of the locals. Members of the committee are R. C. Sprangler, Paul G. Williams and Jos. Peabody. They made their first call last night, appearing before the meeting of the painters' and joiners' Local No. 47.

"I Want to Go Home", Youth Cries After Being Crushed By Tie Pile. Dies Shortly After Reaching Hospital; Companions Are Uninjured

Crushed under a pile of ties, was the tragic fate which befell James Walsh, ten year old son of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Walsh, of 2115 Robinson avenue, Thursday afternoon about four o'clock, the lad dying shortly after being conveyed to Mercy hospital. The scene of the accident was in the N. & W. yards near the freight depot where the Walsh boy and two of his school chums Raymond Walters and Joe McMahon stopped to play on their way home from Holy Redeemer school. The accident is one of the most peculiar fatalities on record according to Coroner Virgil Fowler, who was called.

"I want to go home" were the last words the boy uttered when he was removed from under the pile of ties by N. & W. freight house employees. He then lapsed into unconsciousness and remained in that state until the end came a short time later at the hospital to which place he was removed in the Lynn ambulance.

The three lads left Holy Redeemer school just a short time before they stopped to play around the tie pile. The ties were placed in an Indian wigwam style with one tie forming the chief support. It was on this brace of ties that the Walsh boy finally climbed and caused it to fall, the youth being flattened under the entire pile.

Companions Frightened

The two badly frightened companions secured help from the freight house. Chief Clerk George List heading the rescue squad. Several ties had to be moved before the boy's almost unconscious form could be released. The boy made an effort to stand up and then fell into the arms of the men with just the one exclamation "I want to go home." The unconscious form was made comfortable on the ground until the arrival of the ambulance. Taken to the hospital, Dr. Gilbert Micklethwait and Dr. T. G. McCormick attended him, but James died without regaining consciousness. Death was due to internal hemorrhages, the official death report says.

Efforts to learn the lad's identity failed until he was taken to the hospital, and his parents did not have time to arrive before the end came. James would have been 11 years of age April 20th. He is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. Walsh, and the only grandchild of James Walsh, well known citizen of Olney. Dr. Walsh is a dentist, and practices his profession with his brother, Dr. John Walsh, at 2115 Robinson avenue.

James was a pupil in the fourth grade room taught by Sister Mary Gerald, who is ill and was unable to teach her classes yesterday, the school being in charge of a substitute.

According to the Walters boy, all three of them on leaving school walked up Galla street, discussing plans for the forming of a baseball team and they practically had completed plans when one of them noticed the pile of ties and suggested they play on them. The ties were between tracks No. 8 and 10 east of the freight depot.

Coroner Virgil Fowler investigated the case last night and rendered as his official verdict, "death from accidental causes."

The body was later removed to the Pfeiffer undertaking parlor and was removed to the home today.

Funeral services will be held from Holy Redeemer church Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock with interment in Greenlawn cemetery.

Legion To Back Essay Contest In Local Schools

Selection of captains who will head a campaign for new members, an address by Robert G. Bryan, remarks by Mayor Ralph Culbert on Jefferson Weeks and completion of plans for conducting a Jefferson essay contest in the schools featured the April meeting of James Dickey Post, No. 23, American Legion, Thursday night. Three applications from Everett Klyn, Charles G. Glockner and O. Edgar Ross were received and Mr. Klyn was initiated.

Russell Ketter and J. Alden Staker were named as captains of membership teams. An effort will be made to enroll all ex-service men in the city. Prof. H. H. Eccles and Attorney H. D. McLaughlin were named as a committee to conduct contest for the best 300-word essay on Thomas Jefferson. Next week all over the county, organizations will be busy soliciting funds which will be used to purchase Monticello, Jefferson's home, as a memorial. Separate prizes will be given high school and grade school pupils. Mayor Ralph Culbert was present and spoke in the interest of Jefferson Week.

Austin Jones and Russell Ketter were named as a committee to arrange for a series of luncheons to be held by the post.

Following the business session, the meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee, of which Arthur Kugelmann was chairman. After singing of a number of army songs, Robert G. Bryan was introduced and spoke on the service the post is rendering to the community.

Suggests New Marriage Law

TOLEDO, O., April 4.—Ohio should have a law which would prohibit the re-marriage for at least one year after divorce of any man or woman separated by courts, in the opinion of Judge Milroy and Judge Martin of the Lucas county common pleas court.

And there should be a law in Ohio which would compel physical and mental examination by a reputable physician, of both applicants for a marriage license in the opinion of Judges Cohn and Austin of the Municipal court, where most of the marriages in Toledo are performed.

In the last week there have been four instances of re-marriage almost immediately of women and men who have been divorced. One such re-marriage occurred 15 minutes after the woman was granted a divorce.

These four jurists said today they contemplate getting the opinions of other jurists in other Ohio cities and if there is sufficient interest shown in the thing, ask the general assembly to alter the present laws governing marriage and divorce in the state.

Western

"stand pat" and conservative wing of the Republican party. Stone comes from the New York city attorney's office of corporation law firms. Progressive Senators found, for instance, on looking up "who's who" that Dean Stone had been connected with one of the firms which is said to be among those engaged from time to time by J. P. Morgan and Company.

But the Dean Stone has lived among the corporation lawyers; he is said to have returned in certain liberalism, proof of which is offered in his attack on Attorney General Palmer for the raids on alleged communists known as "reds." That the President has found a $125,000 lawyer to serve the government is not questioned on Capitol Hill. But the radicals in Congress were bent upon having someone appointed who represented the spirit of the West today.

Significant of this trend of the Senate, for example, was the statement of an Eastern Republican Senator, up for re-election this year, who as late as ten o'clock of the day on which the appointment was announced, sent word to the correspondents representing newspapers in his state to let it be known that he favored Kenyon for Attorney General.

Had the President chosen Kenyon, he would, of course, have offended many regular Republicans, who think it is time to stop pandering to the western insurgents and that lifting for their support will not avail Mr. Coolidge anything anyhow.

So far as the insurgent-Republicans are concerned who think Mr. Coolidge by training and viewpoint to be a conservative, there is probably much truth in the assertion that he would not make himself a "progressive" in the eyes of the Westerners by one or two conspicuous appointments. Their arraignment of him is on other counts than Federal patronage.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican leader, who was at the White House today, thought there would be no fight against the confirmation of Dean Stone. Probably not. The Western Republicans are not planning to carry their insurgency that far, but Senator LaFollette, who insists that he will run independently only if Mr. Coolidge's platform is conservative, is gathering ammunition for his attack on the Republican national convention in June. The primaries in Wisconsin which showed Senator LaFollette victor by a big majority, paves the way for what may become a dramatic situation at the Cleveland convention. The Wisconsin delegates plan to make a drive for a progressive platform, falling in which they will announce their dissent and carry the campaign to the country with Senator LaFollette as their spokesman and candidate.

The naming of an Attorney General is but an incident in the fight which is daily widening the breach in the Republican party. What might have happened if the President had named Kenyon, is of course, conjectural, but at no time since the beginning of the present session of Congress did the insurgent Republicans appear to be as united in their willingness to meet the administration half way than they were in the movement for the appointment of Judge Kenyon. Today they feel as if they have been rebuffed. The President has appointed an able man and one in whom he has personal trust. He ignored the politics of the occasion which his friends say ought to help him in the long run.

Ohio River Is Dropping Back Slowly

The Ohio river, swelled to big proportions by heavy rainfall, did not drop back as rapidly as expected over yesterday and last night, the fall of the water amounting to less than three feet from the high mark of 50.5 feet reached in the Portsmouth district Wednesday night.

A stage of exactly 48.0 feet was registered here Friday morning, but with the stream reported falling at all points from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati and running out fast, the fall of the water is expected to be more rapid during the next 48 hours. The "Bowpath" road was still under about three feet of water this morning, but from all indications it will be possible to resume traffic over the roadway into this afternoon or tonight, but the "Y" road, which is submerged under several feet of water, will hardly be clear for traffic before late Saturday.

Boat movements: Greenwood departed at 6 a. m. for Cincinnati and Tom Greene passed up at noon bound for Charleston. J. T. Donald passed down this morning with a tow of coal.

Two Wrecks On B. & O.

Two freight wrecks were reported yesterday on the Portsmouth branch of the B. & O. The first occurred when a D. T. & I. train derailed three cars near Elford and blocked the B. & O. passenger train No. 53, making transfer of passengers at that point necessary. A wrecking crew from Chillicothe cleared up the wreckage.

The second wreck resulted when No. 50, east bound freight, derailed a car of coke near Oak Hill and held up eastbound passenger train No. 52 nearly four hours. The train was due at Wellston at 5:16 a. m. but did not arrive until 12 Thursday morning.

The wrecking crew from Chillicothe cleared up the wreckage.

(This is the fifth of a series of 6 articles on the prevention of diphtheria prepared by representatives of the state and local health departments, public and parochial schools and medical society.)

Protection from diphtheria depends upon the presence of antitoxin in the blood. The antitoxin which the body prepares itself is probably a permanent possession, while commercial antitoxin will remain for only about a month. The Schick test will indicate those who have enough antitoxin in their blood to protect them from diphtheria. What shall we do with those who are not protected? If they have been exposed to diphtheria we must give them commercial antitoxin which will protect them immediately but will pass off in a month.

About thirteen years ago it was found that a substance known as toxin-antitoxin mixture would stimulate the body to produce its own antitoxin and to keep this protection for a number of years and probably permanently. With this protective material we can protect children from six to nine months to ten or twelve years and so repair the loophole that nature has left in her defenses. Three injections of this material are given usually into the left arm above the elbow. Each injection consists of fifteen drops, and the injections are given a week apart.

Kentucky Fires Endanger Scioto County Forests

Forest fires in Lewis county, Kentucky, below Government Dam No. 31 are sending dense clouds of smoke over the West Side making the protection of the Roosevelt Game Preserve and State Forest difficult on account of the limited vision. The same difficulty is encountered by the five forest fire patrolmen who are protecting the wild lands below Turkey Creek as far as Sunshine Ridge and the Flagg estate in Adams county.

Two forest fires, one in Clay and the other in Harrison townships were extinguished last night. The first was discovered by B. E. Leete, assistant forester, while returning from Otway, where he had been to observe the burning strips by the N. & W. Railroad. This fire was in Homer 1500 low, a branch of Sturgeon Run, and resulted in unlawful and careless burning of trash at the edge of the woods. It had reached a high ridge when discovered and would have burned a large territory before morning had it not been for its timely discovery. B. E. Leete, local forester, said Friday, "With the assistance of one or two helpers, and Warden Frank Renner the fire was held on about ten acres."

A fire at the Sciotoville Narrows was reported by Warden Walter Huddleston of Sciotoville, who with three good men extinguished the fire after it had covered about 50 acres.

Says He Was Made Over

"Last summer I began to break down," says H. R. Carter of Huntington, W. Va. "What I could eat didn't seem to furnish any nourishment. I had to be very careful to avoid indigestion, and my sleep was broken and not restful. One doctor said I had stomach ulcers, another declared my liver was torpid. But their prescriptions didn't help any, and I grew worse until I was too miserable to care."

FRIEND HELPED HIM

"One day a friend of mine told me about World's Tonic. I thought I'd try it. After I had taken the first dose I passed an ugly tapeworm six yards long! No wonder, I thought. From that day on I steadily got better, until now I feel like I had been made over. One after another of my troubles cleared up. Today I am as healthy as ever I was, and I owe it all to this wonderful medicine!"

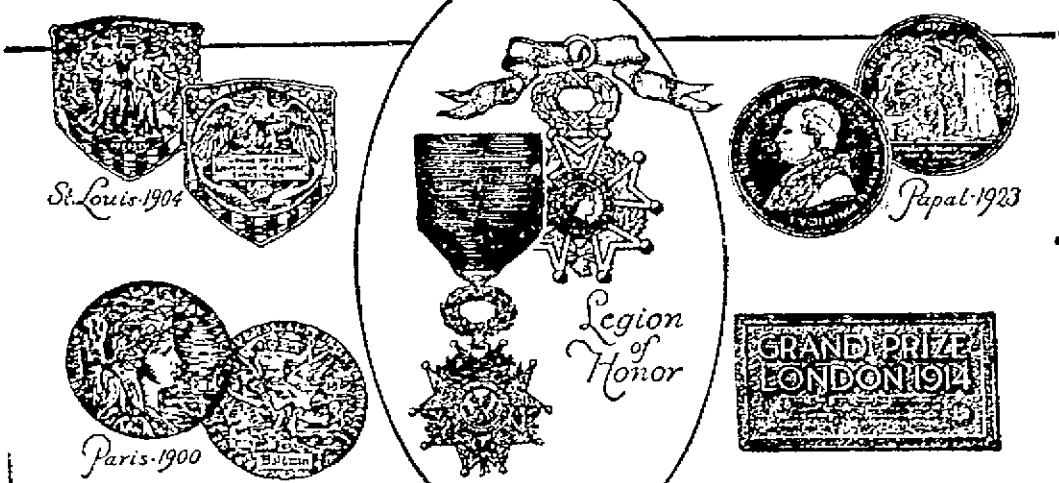

Scores of people right in this town have told similar experiences. Many thousands all over this country declare this remarkable medicine to be a wonder worker. Maybe it is just what you need.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—What ought to be done with a man who marries and settles down close to his parents and goes there for every meal. He has a wife who is too lazy to even sweep the floor, and he won't work, either. Don't you think that when children marry they should take care of themselves? Dolly, don't you think that parents should keep a closer watch on their sons and daughters and not let them get married unless they are able to support and do for themselves. There are too many children getting married. They should be at home playing with their dolls.

I think parents are to blame for raising a boy like that. If he hasn't any back bone, he never will have any unless they give him to understand that he will have to get out and support himself and his wife. If he had gotten the right kind of a wife she would have made him get out and hustle for his daily bread.

Dear Dolly—About three or four years ago I went with a nice young man and he thought lots of me and I thought he was going to get married to me. But I was not ready and he got tired waiting and quit me, Dolly.

—WELLSTON READER.
May 27, 1921, fell on Friday.

Dear Dolly—I have been going with a man in St. Paul, Minn., for about seven months and he wants me to come out there. He says he will send me the money or a pass to come on and I would like to know what you think about it. I am now keeping house for my father on a lonesome hill. Dolly, what would you advise me to do?

—BUZZARD'S GLORY LAND.
I would advise you to stay in Buzzard's Glory Land. You know where you are now, but you don't know where you will be if you go out to Minnesota. The man did not say anything about marriage, and you may find yourself stranded in a strange place, if you go out there on a wild goose chase, not knowing what will happen to you. If the man is sincere, and really wants to marry you, he will come on here and do it in the right kind of a way. Don't let him coax you away from your happy home with a railroad ticket, and take it from me, there are lots worse places in the country than "Buzzard's Glory Land."

On one of the charming weddings of the early spring season was that of Miss Thelma Houston, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Houston, of 1312 Market Road, and Mr. Wesley Kiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Kiser of Carter City, Ky., which was beautifully solemnized Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents.

The impressive ring service was read by Reverend Henry W. Selwyn, pastor of the Granview Avenue Christian church. In the presence of the immediate family of the bride and a few close friends.

Miss Houston looked unusually lovely in her wedding gown of white all-time crepe with trimmings of Spanish lace, and carried an arched bouquet of cream bride's roses. Her only ornament was a string of hand-some pearls which the groom presented her as a birthday gift, yesterday being her twentieth birthday anniversary.

The attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. Josephine Nelson, and Mr. Oscar Taylor. Mrs. Nelson's costume was a handsome afternoon gown of blue all-time crepe with accessories to correspond.

Immediately after the ceremony a small reception was held for the bride and her immediate relatives during which a prettily appointed pink and white ice course was served.

The bride was also the recipient of a handsome gift of twenty pink candles, a gift of the Adams Bakery, in honor of her birthday anniversary.

The young couple will make their home with the bride's parents until their own home in New Boston is completed. Mr. Kiser is an employee of the Portsmouth Works, Wheeling Steel Corporation.

The Central W. C. T. U. will meet on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mary Hall, 1128 Eighth street. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Helen Hopkins will entertain with an "At Home" tomorrow afternoon at her residence on Fifth street, as a social courtesy to Miss Rachel Keller of Toledo, who is the charming guest of Miss Pauline Cohn. Miss Keller accompanied Miss Cohn home from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, to spend the spring vacation.

Miss Ruth Powell, who is a student at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, arrived last evening to spend the spring vacation with home folks. She was accompanied by Clarence Ansacker of Batavia, who will also spend the spring vacation at the Powell home.

Mrs. S. R. Warnock entertained with an aluminum shower at her home on Sixth street Thursday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Viola Sarver, whose marriage to Mr. Harry B. Fryer will be an event of April 1, 1924.

A pink and white ice course was served and dainty favors were presented each guest. A large basket decorated in pink and white, filled with aluminum ware, and drawn by little Helen Sarver, niece of the bride-elect, was presented to her.

Music and dancing were enjoyed during the remainder of the evening. Those present included: Misses Helen Sarver, Marjorie Call, Rose Castelli, Marcella Kallach, Dorothy Hagg, Merle Hall, Ethel Flowers.

Mrs. Leo Weber, Mrs. Cecil Sarver, Mrs. J. B. Fuberton, Mrs. Gardner Sheets, Mrs. William Sarver, Mrs. Joe Davis, Mrs. W. R. Fandery, Mrs. M. L. Sarver and Miss Viola Sarver.

we went together about three or four years and I am still crazy about him, and I don't see how I am going to get along without him. Dolly, I would love to have him back now. His mother liked me at first and wanted us to get married, but later got mad at me, but I don't know why and I guess I never will know. I always liked her and never did anything against her that I know of. Dolly, I don't think a mother should try to keep her son from getting married when he is of age and knows his own mind, do you?

She should think of her own life, and how easy she was to get married when she was young. Dolly, I can't forget this man, as I think of him every place I go. If he knew how I longed for him I am sure he would come back to me. I meet him a good many times and he speaks friendly, but that is as far as it goes. I hope he will see this letter and come back to me. Dear Dolly, do you think he will ever come back to me?

—SAD ONE.
I hope he comes back to you, but if he doesn't, I also hope that you will have enough spunk to forget him and get interested in some one who will appreciate your affections.

Miss Mary Reagan, of Portsmouth, who has been ill for some time, was brought to the home of her relative, Mrs. Mary Guthrie, of Railroad avenue Friday. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Phil J. Tohl, of Arion, who returned to her home this morning.—Wellston Journal.

GOOD MANNERS Fair Portion Enough

When food is passed you will not take an over-amount, leaving a scarcity for others.

Little Miss Jean Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Johnson of 921 Third street, was a charming hostess Thursday, when she entertained a group of playmates from the five o'clock in honor of her fifth birthday anniversary.

The youngsters enjoyed their favorite games and were later served with a yellow and white ice-course, with little yellow baskets of candy Easter eggs as favors. The huge birthday cake with five gleaming candles graced the center of the table which was pretty with yellow and white decorations and yellow shadon candies.

Mrs. Johnson was assisted by Mrs. F. J. Johnson in entertaining the little guests who included: Imogene Markins, Mele Luther, Katherine Steele, Alice Loring and Ruth Hartlage, Ruth Mary Friend, Katherine Edwards, Ruth Walters, Jean Elizabeth Johnson, Bobbie and Billie Moore, Wayne Lewis, Donald Swable, Bobbie and Tommie Switalski and August Fuss-necker.

Old Sciotoville Christian Church Built and Dedicated in 1880

Getting ready for a dedication of a church requires a lot of work, worry and money. It is not just a picnic or anything like that. So say the people of the Christian church at Sciotoville, but they are happy for they'll be ready to dedicate their splendid new church home next Lord's Day and they plan to do it in a big way, having set the goal of one thousand in the Bible school for that day and a regular attendance goal of five hundred thereafter.

It will be a great day for the membership which numbers about three hundred souls, all up and doing for the good cause as the new building bears ample testimony.

Back in 1878, one Rev. Powell assisted by Rev. Franklin began the work of planting a Church of Christ at the village of Sciotoville, which perhaps numbered about as many souls as there are in the Bible schools of the village each Sunday morning at the present day. Two years later these good brethren together with the folk whom they had been able to enlist with them had the extreme joy of dedicating a building for the worship of God. That old building stands today beside the new edifice and for the number of years it has been standing and for the service it has rendered, it is in fine condition. It will be used by the congregation for recreational purposes as soon as they are settled in the new building.

For some time, perhaps for years, Rev. Chas. Reinhard has had a vision of a well equipped plant for the church and Bible school. His vision never dimmed, although it seemed at times that it would be likely to fade when some of the brethren would tell him that it could not be done, but his faith did not weaken, and now in the joy of realizing his dream, he is almost too happy to talk about it.

Last July was really when the vision of the pastor began to take concrete form. The plans were made. Rev. Reinhard was Supt. of construction ex officio, and the men of the church under his guidance and with the advice of many of the members and officers of the church, began the excavation work. It was not easy, either, for it was during the hot weather and the men gathered their tools and began to dig the foundation. The women had their part for they gathered in the old church basement and prepared meals so that the workmen need not go to their homes for them. All through the summer, all through the fall, all through the winter and until this very day of spring, the men of the church have worked faithfully to do what they could toward the building, and have sacrificed to the labor and materials, until they are now realizing the happiness that comes from owning a modern plant. And, it may be said for a small congregation, the plant is not so small, for it will hold nearly a thousand folk in the main auditorium and balcony. Then there are a number of class rooms arranged for use of the school, with a basement, kitchen and furnace room and toilet rooms underneath, making it suitable for the social functions of the folk who worship there.

The material that has gone into the building has been of the very best and the heating and ventilating system has been chosen with extreme care, so that it will keep the church comfortable both in summer and winter.

Located on the corner one square removed from Gallia Pike, and some distance from the street car line, it will be away from the noise and not far enough away to be inconvenient. This adds to the desirability of the plant as a house of worship.

The building when completed will be one of the prettiest and most serviceable in Southern Ohio.

"SURE AM GLAD I TRIED CARDUI"

Louisiana Lady Says That She Was In a Condition of Serious Debility, But Now Feels Good as Ever

Shreveport, La.—Mrs. William C. Rauff, of 303 Baker St., this city, had never known what ill health was until last year. Then she began having something wrong.

"I would awake in the mornings," relates Mrs. Rauff, "feeling weak and just no account. I couldn't get up and sit about like I had always done. I was nervous, too, for I didn't understand the shortness of breath. I would try to do my work but would have to sit or lie down."

Mr. Rauff then took matters into his own hands and, on the suggestion of his doctor, brought home some Cardui for his wife.

"After taking one bottle," continues Mrs. Rauff, "I felt stronger. Each morning my husband would say, 'Take your medicine.' I did, and after my second bottle I felt good as ever. I know Cardui did me worlds of good and I sure am glad I tried it."

Mrs. Rauff found, as have many other women, that Cardui, with its gentle, building-up, tonic qualities, was just what she needed to put her on her feet again. Cardui is purely vegetable, mild and harmless.

LECTURES ON ROOSEVELT

Rev. Walter H. Smith, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, yesterday evening delivered his celebrated address on "Theodore Roosevelt, American," before a good sized and appreciative audience at Allen Chapel A. M. E. church.

Maine and Connecticut Delegates for Coolidge; McAdoo Favored in Iowa

PORTLAND, Maine, April 4.—(By the A. P.)—The Republican state convention yesterday voted to instruct its 15 delegates to the national convention at Cleveland "to use every honorable effort to secure the nomination of Coolidge for president and to support him if elected."

This action was taken after delegates and alternates known to be favorable to Mr. Coolidge had been selected. Instructions never had been given previously by Republican state conventions in Maine except in the cases of two "favorite sons" and once in the fourth district for former President Roosevelt.

HARTFORD, CONN., April 4.—Connecticut's delegation of 17 to the National Republican convention at Cleveland in June, selected at the state Republican convention yesterday, will be an unopposed delegation, but its members will be prepared to vote for Calvin Coolidge for the presidential nomination. At the national convention four years ago it was a Connecticut delegation which early declared for Mr. Coolidge for vice-president and it was J. Henry Roraback, national committee man from this state, who presented Mr. Coolidge's name. Mr. Roraback today headed the list of delegates at large.

DAVENPORT, IOWA, April 4.—An Iowa delegation to the Democratic National convention in New York declared to be favorable in the main to the presidential candidacy of William G. McAdoo, but instructed its delegates to support the Democratic state delegation convention here yesterday.

The convention was the most spectacular ever held by the party in Iowa. No proposal was brought before the convention for an instructed delegation to the national convention.

Supporters of Clyde L. Herring, McAdoo manager, however, were unanimous in declaring a majority of Iowa's delegates were favorable to McAdoo and succeeded in putting through a resolution instructing the delegates to vote by the unit rule.

Likewise, no mention was made of endorsing candidates for vice-president although a number of delegates decided to put through an honorary resolution on behalf of E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture.

KANSAS CITY, April 4.—Eight more votes for President Coolidge were added to Missouri's delegation today. The 13th district convention at Des Moines instructed its two delegates for the president and four delegates, favorable were instructed, each with half a vote, were chosen at Joplin.

Dying Victim of Poisoned Liquor Accuses Druggist

TOLEDO, April 4.—Revocation of the druggists certificate held by Meyer Selzman was the first act here this afternoon of State Drug Inspector Snow, representing the State Board of Pharmacy, who came to Toledo to investigate the deaths, since Sunday, of 18 men who had been drinking denatured alcohol. (The death today of James Carter, 55, brought the total to 18 for the week. There are three men in Municipal hospital who are not expected to live.

Complaints, reciting manslaughter, were issued today against Selzman, in whose drug store police and federal agents say they confiscated 10 gallons of denatured alcohol. Selzman already is under $15,000 bond in United States court on a charge of violating the national prohibition laws.

Three clerks employed by Selzman also have been held under bond for violating the prohibition laws. Police officers today obtained the statements of two of the alcohol victims. One of them, Carter, died a short time after making his statement. Both men are said to have told authorities of purchasing denatured alcohol from Selzman's drug store, in bottles which bore no poison label.

Non-Union Miners Target of Bullets

PIKEVILLE, KY., April 4.—One man was killed and another known to have been wounded when miners at the Liberty Coal & Coke Company at Straight Creek, were fired upon late yesterday, reports here said.

George Lucas was killed instantly. Edward Dismann was brought to a hospital here with a bullet wound in his leg. Only two men were believed to have been struck. It was estimated that 500 shots were fired.

Eviction notices recently had been posted to all residents of the Liberty Company's mining camps who refused to work under the present scale. The company obtained an injunction this week, prohibiting interference with mine operations or molestation of company employees.

Company officials disclosed today that recently workers were fired upon as they approached the mines, but added no one was hurt. The company is operating on an open shop basis.

Favor Changes In Tax Laws

COLUMBUS, April 4.—(By the A. P.)—Constitutional changes in Ohio tax laws were proposed at a meeting here today of the advisory committee of the Ohio Tax association, which is seeking to frame a comprehensive program of tax laws for introduction at the next general assembly.

C. A. Dyer, representing the Ohio Grange proposed that adoption of a section to prohibit the issuance of bonds or notes for current expenses, and also to limit the time for which bonds may be issued to the estimated life of the improvement for which they are issued; to create a section providing budget commissioners for taxing districts and amend the taxation section of the present constitution by exempting motor vehicles from taxation and providing for their licensing and taxation by the legislature.

On behalf of the Cleveland Building association, H. W. Black, Cleveland, filed a brief outlining views of that organization. They were that all property should be taxed in proportion to its value, that property should be taxed by the unit rule according to value; other property should be taxed by the unit rule as to kind or class based on ability to pay; exceptions permitted under present constitution should be added to all forms of double taxation should be prohibited; the legislature should pass laws establishing maximum rates for municipalities, such rates subject to approval of the people.

Mayor and Dry Agents Indicted

TOLEDO, O., April 4.—(By the A. P.)—Mayor Leri H. Shovar of Harbor View, a suburb of 300 residents, and two of his prohibition enforcement officers—Karl Nepp and Herbert E. Kraus—were indicted by the United States grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Penalty upon conviction of this charge carries a penalty of imprisonment in the federal penitentiary for two years and a fine of $10,000.

The indictment against Mayor Shovar and his officers was drawn in four counts reciting conspiracy, possession of liquor, transportation of liquor and the sale of liquor.

On March 26, the indictment charges, Mayor Shovar permitted Nepp and Kraus to carry away from his court room at Harbor View five cases of beer which had been seized previously in a liquor raid by the same officers.

The officers were arrested late in the night of March 26 when they are said to have been caught in the act of attempting to dispose of the beer. Mayor Shovar was arrested early in the morning of March 27 at his home.

MAINE TO BACK COOLIDGE

PORTLAND, MAINE, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The choice of fifteen delegates to the Republican National Convention favorable to President Coolidge but unpledged, appeared probable at the Republican State Convention here today. Although there was a possibility of a contest for one of the seven places as delegate at large, presidential preferences were not involved; all the candidates being in favor of Mr. Coolidge's nomination. It has been the custom of both political parties in Maine to send unpledged delegates to the national conventions.

Action came on a conservative motion, designed to force the government to define its attitude on the question.

Longworth Praises Coolidge; Raps Democratic Tactics

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—(By the A. P.)—Voicing praise for President Coolidge and the Republican party, and condemning the Democrats, Representative Longworth, Republican leader in the house of representatives, declared in an address last night before the Republican women of Pennsylvania, he felt certain a "calm, personal and weighing of the record of the Republican party during this period will prove its title to another lease of power."

Although "a good many Republicans are worrying about the chances of defeat in the next election," Mr. Longworth said he was not "losing any sleep over it" and added:

Revels in Slender

"Judged by its conduct in the past few years, it seems to me that the title of the Democratic party to an emblem, the rooster, so far less noble than the eagle; at least is endowed with courage and the love of fair play is decidedly shaky. It has been standing for obstruction, destruction and disturbance. Of late it has been reveling in abuse, calumny and slander of the dead as well as of the living, so its own skirts have proved to be less clean than those of the party it has been attacking. It seems to me that a fitting emblem for the Democratic party in the next campaign would be the buzzard."

Paying tribute to President Coolidge, Mr. Longworth declared he already had proved himself a great president and "in his next term will prove himself a greater one."

Praises Coolidge's Record

"It was characteristic of the stability of our government and a tribute to the wisdom of the last Republican convention," continued the speaker, "that the accession of its choice for vice president to the presidency caused not a ripple on the waters. The people had confidence in Coolidge and that confidence has increased as the days have gone by until the question of his practically unanimous nomination in the next Republican convention has ceased to be debatable.

"He represents the type of man that the country most needs in the highest office in its gift in times like this—a man of absolute honesty both mental and moral, a man whose words are few but who makes every word count, one who uses language to make clear his views, not to conceal them. A patriot and statesman, Calvin Coolidge will be the next president of the United States."

Takes Rap At Senate

In discussing the accomplishments of the present and 67th congresses, Mr. Longworth made this reference to the senate:

"I do not want to be construed as criticizing the United States senate as a legislative body. It is a great legislative body when it condescends to legislate. I think the time has come when that great body should cease scavenging and get down to legislate. That could be done perfectly well, and yet leave ample time to the various committees for such investigations of alleged fraud and wrong doing as may be wise and necessary."

Country Tired Of Slush

"Some of us are becoming very tired thought and I think the country is getting tired of the mass of vituperation and slush designed to blast the reputations of honest men, with reflections upon the dead as well as the living which crowd the pages of the Congressional Record and prevent the transaction of the business which the country demands and has the right to demand shall be speedily transacted."

Mr. Longworth said he did not propose to apologize or explain but intended to "boast of the Republican record and achievements particularly of congress since the party regained control."

Defends Mellon's Policies

"You may search history in vain," he declared, "to find an instance where any party within the same period and under such peculiar difficulties has accomplished so much of progressive and conservative legislation, gone so far in the redemption of its platform pledges and done so much toward the preservation of the peace of the world as has the Republican party since the inauguration of the late President Harding."

"I do not know what place President Harding will eventually occupy in history. His time was all too short for the vast tasks imposed upon him. But he will merit the thanks of his countrymen and all posterity if for nothing else for his indomitable determination and successful efforts, advised and aided by one of the greatest secretaries of the treasury we have ever had, in eliminating extravagance and waste and reducing government expenditures to the bone."

Bench Warrants Out For Alleged Buckeling

NEW YORK, April 4.—Detectives left for Chicago today with bench warrants in search for four men against whom a grand jury today returned 30 indictments for buckeling orders of the New York stock exchange firm of E. W. Wagner & Company, which closed its offices in December, 1921, and failed for $10,000,000.

The bench warrants named Emil W. Wagner, directing head of the firm; Frank W. Donaldson, manager of its main office at Chicago; Charles A. John, manager of its New York branch; and Ernest Tietjen, the concern's chief financial adviser.

E. W. Wagner & Company was one of the most active brokerage firms in America. It had a membership in the New York stock exchange, the New York Cotton Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

With a main office in Chicago and two branches in New York, it operated in 20 other large cities. Two years before the house failed, it distributed among its employees $200,000 in Christmas bonuses.

The indictments charge that heads of the firm swindled its customers by trading against them through a system of "house accounts."

Daugherty Will Strike Back

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(Harry M. Daugherty declared in a brief statement today that he would prepare and make public tomorrow an answer to the address of Senator Pepper, Republican, of Portland, Maine, today, in which the senator said that the "selection of Mr. Daugherty as attorney general seems to me to have been a grave error of judgment."

"I do not propose," Mr. Daugherty said, "to be made an issue in the coming campaign except for the benefit of the Republican party as a beneficiary of my administration of the public business in the department of justice."

Steel Company to Launch Safety First Campaign; Chance to Earn Real Prize

Dark Blue Favorite Over Light Blue

LONDON, April 4 (By the Associated Press).—The dark blue of Oxford will rank a strong favorite over the light blue of Cambridge, when the crews dip their oars into the Thames Saturday afternoon for their 77th annual race. The course is 4.14 miles. In the Oxford shell, stroked by the twenty-one-year-old New Yorker, W. L. Mallon, will sit five of the men who rowed to victory over Cambridge last year, with Mallon as stroke. Only one of the eight oars tipped with the light blue of Cambridge will be dipped by hands that pulled through that struggle.

The dark blues average 175 pounds to the man, the same as last year. Cambridge, with an extraordinarily light crew, averages 165 pounds.

Investigating Girl's Story

The following is from the Cincinnati Enquirer: "Attaches of the General Hospital are investigating the case of a patient registered as Leona Jarvis, 22 years old, Olive Hill, Ky., who is suffering from acute appendicitis and confusion on her scalp and neck on her right eye. Miss Jarvis was removed from a train in the Central Union Railway Station by the Travelers' Aid Society. At first she said she had been in an automobile accident when, on a visit with friends in Dayton, Ohio. Later she said she had been employed in Dayton as a maid there and was hit by an automobile the day before she started for her home."

PILES

Treated Without Surgery

A simple case of PILES is considered by most people as a matter of no more concern than the spells of Proctitis, bleeding, itching, pain and annoyance which they suffer in the early stage. Little do they realize the terrible condition into which PILES frequently develop, and the terrible nerve waste that goes on all the time, due to the strain on the Sympathetic Nerve System.

Thousands of people are far from being up to the standard either in body or mind, simply because of the constant annoyance and irritation of the rectum. This need not be so if the proper treatment were used in the right time, in the right way.

The wisdom of a rational, scientific, non-surgical treatment has been fully demonstrated and has long since passed the experimental stage. Why suffer the tortures of a surgical operation, when you can be successfully treated without it or loss of time? So many have taken advantage of my previous trips to Portsmouth and the results have been so gratifying, that I have decided to make weekly trips for a while so they can get the full benefits of the treatment.

I will be at the Washington Hotel, Monday, April 7, where I will be glad to give you a free examination and tell you exactly what can be done in your case.

In an effort to further promote "Safety First," which slogan is known to every employee of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, a Safety First poster contest will be inaugurated at all the big plants of the corporation, in the hope a striking poster or posters may result thereby. The contest which will open on May 1 and close on June 30, 1924, is open only to the children of employees, and their age must not be over 16 years. Cash prizes amounting to $700.00 will be awarded the winners, divided as follows: first prize, $50; twelve second prizes, $25 each; twelve third prizes, $10 each.

Prizes will be given for the best sketches or designs for safety first posters, illustrating or explaining the safety first thought or idea, as applied to every day life in the mills, factories and shops, on the streets or highways, and in the school or home, which will be submitted in this contest.

The conditions of the contest are as follows: 1st—All sketches or designs submitted in this contest must be the original work of children not over 16 years of age on May 1st, 1924, and of whom one parent was in the employ of the Wheeling Steel Corporation on the same date.

2nd—All contestants must register on or before May 1, 1924, and the completed sketches or designs must be submitted on or before June 30, 1924.

3rd—Sketches and designs must be on paper or board 4 1/2 x 12 in. and may be in water-color, pen and ink, pencil or crayon; pencil or crayon sketches should be properly fixed to prevent smearing or blurring.

4th—Names of contestants must not appear on sketches and designs when submitted, as they will be identified by number only until all awards are made.

5th—Prize-winning sketches and designs become the property of the Wheeling Steel Corporation; those not accepted will be returned as far as possible, although the safe return cannot be guaranteed.

Those who wish to take part in the contest may secure all information and registration blanks from the superintendent or heads of the various departments.

The contest should add considerable interest to the "Safety First Campaign," which is never allowed to grow old with the Wheeling Steel Corporation.

Inaugurated many years ago, it has been stressed to success, for injuries at the many plants of the corporation have been reduced to a minimum.

It will be the aim of those who participate from the Wheeling Steel Corporation, Portsmouth Works, to win the major prize. The handsome financial rewards will doubtless go a long way toward stimulating interest. The prizes are so many that there is no question but some of the money will be received in Portsmouth.

General Pershing Says Conditions are Better

NEW YORK, April 4.—General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the United States army, returned today on the steamship George Washington from France, where he has been since last October, occupied mainly in writing his memoirs of the World War.

The situation in Europe is improving, he said, and he was convinced the Dawes' committee would "turn out something that will be very constructive and very beneficial" to the reparations situation. Beyond that, he refused to be quoted directly on any subject.

Steel Stockholders Protective Trust Plans to Lift Receivership

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 4.—With assets in excess of $1,325,000 and steadily increasing, the L. R. Steel Stockholders' Protective Trust is preparing to take the final step in the plans for reorganization of the L. R. Steel chain store and really companies which will lift them from receivership and place them under control of Steel's Consolidated, Inc., which has been incorporated with a capitalization of $7,500,000. It was announced today by Clarence P. Booth of Rochester, chairman of the Stockholders' Committee.

The new consolidated company expects to start functioning within the next 30 days with a complete chain of 5 cent to $1 department stores throughout the United States and Canada with executive offices in Buffalo. Announcement of the personnel of the new corporation will soon be made. The executive officers and members of the board of directors will be business men and chain store men of wide merchandising experience.

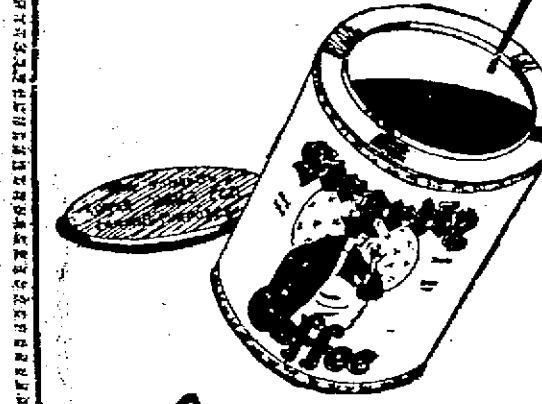

David M. Lewis of New York of the Cloth, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association, one of the strongest organizations of its kind in America, and who for the past year has been directing the merchandising operations of the United States stores in receivership under the direction of the United States District court, says the spring business is getting well under way and extensive purchases of new merchandise are being made through the New York buying office established by the Federal Court receivers.

"All of the stores are showing up well and sales are increasing," said Mr. Lewis in an interview. "We are having success with women's lines in some of the stores, especially in Buffalo. The chain store business has great possibilities and that is one of the reasons I have given so much time to my duties as a Federal Court receiver for these companies. It has been interesting to observe their commercial business and in some instances their growth even under the handicap of receivership administration."

Creditors of L. R. Steel Co., Inc., the parent chain store company, have shown great interest in the reorganization plans and are so anxious to have the properties lifted from receivership and placed under the control of Steel's Consolidated, Inc., that over $500,000 in claims against the companies in receivership have already been assigned to the L. R. Steel Stockholders' Protective Trust on the basis of 60 cents on the dollar. The Peoples' Bank of Buffalo is acting as agent for the creditors in the settlement of their claims. Nearly 1,000 creditors of the various companies have accepted the offer of the Stockholders' Committee and other outstanding claims are being purchased and assigned as rapidly as they are allowed in Bankruptcy Court by Referee James W. Parsons.

The reorganization has been made possible through the cooperation of upwards of 20,000 stockholders of the L. R. Steel chain store and really enterprises throughout the United States and Canada from the Pacific Northwest to Florida and subscriptions to the Protective Trust have been received from many foreign countries which indicates the world-wide interest in the future success of the organization founded by the late Leonard R. Steel.

The preliminary report submitted by the committee at last night's meeting of River City Aerle, F. O. Another entertainment of the same nature is being planned for the near future.

man, for your offer to help me but there's your own girl, you know? "I've not forgot," Mike said simply. "Well, I'm in a bit of a hurry."

For a moment his companion took his right hand from the wheel and shook that of his pal and the compact was made.

CHAPTER VII.
An Unforeseen Element
While Trevor and Detective-Sergeant Curtis were leaving cityward through the night, Sallie, after listening with distended eyes and fast-beating heart to that midnight conference—between Mrs. Copeland, her nephew Slat, Bel-lows, the attorney, and Doctor Qual-ters—turned and, grasping her way to the hall, fled noiselessly up the stairs to her own room.

She closed the door behind her and in the glow from the soft night light located the heavy, bent hairpin and probing through the keyhole looked the door with the key on the farther side. Then dropped the pin out of the bathroom window, before she flung herself on her bed, her eyes filled with indignant tears.

"Sallie, peek is dead and buried!" The brutal, unfeeling tones of Wheel-ers' Slat rang in her ears. Poor Ma Brennan! Sallie's own tears over-flowed at the thought of the good woman's grief, and then her heart seemed to stop beating as the face of Mike rose before her. Maybe he cared for her after all, and now he must think her dead! Oh, but she'd pay this crowd out before she was through with them!

Then another remark of Slat's re-turned to her mind: "Are you sure you've got the right dope about her? Are you sure you know who the girl upstairs really is?"

"I want her!" The cry of agony rang out upon the night air. "I'm going to get her out of that house and take her where she'll be safe and cared for, and where I can see her and try to make her remember me—make her care for me all over again! If that's impossible, if she never knows me and I mean no more to her than any other stranger I mean to protect her all the rest of her life! Thanks, old

ALYA AND I STOLE A FEW MINUTES ON DECK.

Sallie sat up suddenly as an inspiration came to her and her eyes traveled swiftly to that spot on the carpet where she had palmed that fragment from a newspaper; the paragraph which mentioned the possibility that "Diamond Bess" Bliker, the missing maid in the Delapierre robbery case, might have boarded the Gotham Arrow at Philopoli, where she was last seen. Then a little, soft, impish laugh escaped Sallie's lips, and, throwing off the robe and slippers, she composed herself for the night.

Theresa noticed a decidedly unfavorable change in "Miss Alva" the next morning. There was an alarming in-cress of slang in the careless speech which she seemed to grow coarser and harder overnight, and the quiet docility of manner had given place to an air of impudent assurance not unmixed with derision.

With Miss Tidmarsh and the doctor, however, Sallie was careful to resume her manner of the previous day, although she evinced a growing restlessness at being treated as a semi-invalid and insisted upon being permitted to rise.

After a brief delay Theresa re-entered the room somewhat sullenly with both arms piled with dainty, girlish garments and at sight of them a sudden, hideous thought came to Sallie. Whose body was that which had been buried in her place? Could it be that she was wearing a dead girl's clothes, sleeping in a dead girl's bed, using her personal belongings as though they were her own? If not, where was the real Alva Copeland? A shudder shook Sallie from head to foot but she forced herself to face the maid calmly, still keeping her im-pudently assured air of the early morning.

"Look here, haven't I got any new clothes?" she demanded as Theresa spread across the chaise longue a smart silk morning dress which seemed somehow to have lost its first freshness. "Ain't there any-thing I haven't worn before?"

The eyes of the maid met hers for a fleeting moment and then Theresa drew aside the silk dress and replaced it with a straight little frock of soft, gray cloth.

"You have forgotten this, perhaps, Miss Alva? It was among the last of the robes purchased in Paris six weeks ago and never have you worn it."

"I'll do, I guess," Sallie assented carelessly. "Can that Paris stuff, though, Theresa; we understand each other."

She almost held her breath at her own daring as she waited for the other's reply but none came. A mask seemed to have fallen over Theresa's face and she proceeded in silence to complete Sallie's toilette.

Just as she fastened the last snap-per a knock came upon the door and as she opened it to receive a huge purple box from the hands of Fitch, the tall young footman of the pre-vious day, the girl standing behind her caught a glimpse of his face.

He was gazing straight into Sallie's eyes, not in bold disrespect, but rather as though he were attempting to convey a message. She recalled his insistent staring at her when she served tea in Mrs. Copeland's sitting room the afternoon before and impulsively she nodded just as Theresa shut the door in his face.

Diseases traced to constipation are many—get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

Why does constipation breed other diseases? Because it floods your system with dangerous poisons. And the longer you suffer, the more poisons accumulate. That is why constipation should be relieved at once.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. They know it brings results because it is ALL bran. And only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective in relieving constipation.

ALL bran—Kellogg's—sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts as nature acts. It makes the in-testine function naturally and regu-larly. If eaten regularly, it will bring permanent relief in the most chronic cases of constipation—is guaranteed to do so or your grocer returns your money.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will like the wonderful Kellogg's flavor—so crisp and nut-like—so different from ordinary bran, which are most unpalatable.

Eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. And by all means try it in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Battle Creek, is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, nervousness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority. Smallpox Epidemic In Akron Suburb

AKRON, O., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—With the discovery of more than 20 cases of smallpox in Kentmore, a suburb, a section of the city, is under strict police guard and county health officials are preparing to open a pest house in the infected area.

Cloped sewers in the district are blamed for the epidemic through unsanitary conditions caused by the overflow of sewage in many of the homes. More than 50 homes are included in the quarantined section. County health officials have ordered all dogs and cats in the neighborhood killed. Extra police are being sworn in to patrol the infected area. The section has been under police guard since late Thursday night, when ropes were stretched around the area. Sixty other persons are believed to have been exposed to the disease.

Health officials fear the epidemic will spread to other parts of the city, despite precautions already taken.

New Bridge Will Span Beaver Creek

The State Highway Department is advertising for bids for the improvement of Scioto Trail over Beaver Creek south of Piketon. Bids are to be received until April 11 by Highway Commissioner L. A. Boulay, Columbus. The job will consist of the construction of approaches and bridge over the creek at an estimated cost of $16,210.54. The length of the improvement is to be 1,500 feet, with a 23-foot roadway and 15-foot pavement. Work set for completion is August 15, 1924. The old covered bridge over this creek was razed last year, after two large oil trucks broke through the bridge.

AFGHAN-INDO RELATIONS SUBJECT OF VICEROY'S SPEECH

DELPHI, April 4.—The strained relations between India and Afghanistan were discussed by the Viceroy, Lord Reading, in opening the second session of the Indian legislature here, and at the same time he expressed anxiety for the future of the Indian reforms.

Alluding to the rumors of the alleged intentions of the British Government toward Afghanistan, and of the latter in relation to the situation, the Viceroy declared them to be without foundation.

"Certain questions have, however, been under discussion between the two governments," Lord Reading said. "Those discussions are now nearing a satisfactory solution. The discussions owe their origin to outrages, notably those at Barabore and Spinilla, committed on our frontier by Wazirs domiciled in Afghanistan. They were complicated by the execution of these outrages from a base in Afghanistan and by the removal of loot to Afghanistan. In some cases also the perpetrators were deserters from the British Indian military units who had found employment in Afghanistan.

Dies Suddenly

IRONTON, April 4.—Mrs. Harlan Williams, wife of Marlan Williams, of 1003 south Eighth street, and one of the best known colored residents of the city, died suddenly at the home last evening about 7:30 o'clock. Death came as the deceased was preparing to attend church.

Probers

"My Dear Senator:
"I have received your letter of April 3, requesting that I send certain official records described in a memorandum accompanying your letter and am accordingly sending the same by Captain W. P. Voland, assistant chief of the section, air service who is familiar with these records and can assist you in referring to their contents.
"I hardly need suggest that inasmuch as these are important public records, it is most desirable that they be carefully preserved and that they be withdrawn from this department for as short a time as possible. These papers relate largely to matters now in course of litigation or about to be litigated and there is much in them that if disclosed or made known to the defendants in suits brought and to be brought by the United States would result in great injury to the public interests. I have therefore to request that you conduct your examination of these papers in such a way as will not reveal their contents to the public at large at present.
"As indicating the importance of this matter, these papers are involved in suits now brought or about to be brought in thirty different cases involving an amount of about forty-two millions of dollars. I may say, however, that there is no need whatever of secrecy in the memoranda of May 26, 1924, signed by Major General Charles Mencher, chief of air service, addressed to the secretary of war setting up the reasons why settlement of certain war contracts in the air service ought to be re-investigated and re-negotiated, and the exhibits thereto.
"Must be before other Committee.
"An additional reason for the exercise of both care and haste in respect to these papers is that it is almost certain they will soon have to be produced before a special committee of the house of representatives for the investigation of the activities of the air service, war department and the aviation of the navy and the aviation of the postoffice department.
"In order that the war department responsibility for the preservation of these papers may not be interrupted, I request that they remain in the custody of Captain Voland at all times. He will produce them before your committee whenever you may desire to continue your examination of them.
"Yours very truly,
"JOHN W. WEAVER."
In view of the secretary's request the committee examined the records at an executive session as soon as it convened today.

Deal Means 15 New Oil Wells

STOCKDALE, April 4.—Bryan J. O'Brien, of Painesville, Ky., Thursday closed a deal with the various lessees whereby he combined about 3,500 acres of leased oil territory in the Stockdale neighborhood.
He has applied for incorporation papers through Attorney Anselm Skelton, and the capital stock will be $25,000.
Active work will be commenced within a few weeks and it is the intention of the incorporators to drill 15 wells this summer.
The Stockdale territory is shallow, the oil sands being found from 350 to 450 feet. The cost of drilling only averages about $1,000 per well and last year two wells were drilled, one on the Brooks Milam farm and one on the Oscar Brown farm.
The old Dieber farm south of Beaver is under lease to the Frankenberg interest of Huntington and their contract calls for 12 wells.
Dennis Wheeler, of Ashland, Ky., and Brother J. A. Wheeler, of Portsmouth, are planning to drill several wells south of Stockdale.

Elmer Wiseman, popular member of the Senior class, was selected as one of the commencement speakers. He will represent the Senior Class.

Marshman, of Delaware, will again occupy the pulpit at the Second Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and evening, his morning theme to be: "The Fact of Regeneration," and his evening subject: "Two Temperaments." Hooper Attacks Provision of Bill Displacing Rail Board

Under the proposed law, Mr. Hooper said with a new arbitration board for each dispute the non-partisan members would likely be without experience and would function under a disadvantage.

The transportation act of 1920 and the labor board have reduced the number of strikes by adjusting disputes economically and satisfactorily and by making it virtually impossible for any organization to win a strike over the decision of the board, he asserted.

Darlene is the name given to daughter born recently to Mr. and Mrs. George Bishop of Twin Valley addition, Harrisonville pike, north of New Boston.

"The Constitution and What it Means to Citizens of the Republic" was the ably handled subject of Attorney Harry W. Miller, speaking before last night's meeting of the Rotary Club. Attorney Miller outlined the writing of the Constitution, and said that the Constitution had given life to the country through the interpretations of Chief Justice John Marshall, to whom he paid a glowing tribute.

Attorney Arthur H. Bannon, who presided as chairman of the meeting, in a short talk declared that the people are drifting away from the principles of the Constitution to a more easily interpreted Democracy.

The club met with a 6 o'clock supper at the Elks' club. About 20 members plan to go to Columbus next Thursday, to attend the convention of the Rotary district of which they were elected by the district leader. Word from other clubs of the district is that selection of Henry Burrison of this city as district governor of the organization would meet with favor, and it is probable that his name will be placed before the meeting as Miss Inez Starcher delightfully entertained the members of the Club Thursday evening at her home, 1524 Tenth street. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Bess Cofer Grant street in two weeks.

William Cottle of 1601 Summit street, who recently purchased a new Studebaker automobile, will leave on April first on an automobile tour through the South. Before returning home he will spend two weeks visiting friends in Miami, Florida.

George Staten, a student at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, arrived home Thursday night to spend the spring vacation with his mother, Mrs. G. H. Staten of Ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Harris of Fourth street, are home from a visit to relatives and friends in Niles and Youngstown, O.

The King's Daughters and Sons of Trinity church will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Oscar Mickelthwait on Lincoln street. Charge High School Girls Cut Classes To Work As Runners for Bootleggers

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 4.—Investigation of reports that Louisville high school girls had been "cutting classes" to use their automobiles for the transportation of whiskey has been begun both by federal prohibition operatives and the city board of education, it was revealed here late today.

Edward Gottschalk, president of the board, said an investigation of reports that bootleggers had employed high school girls as liquor runners on a salary basis had been under way since Monday.

Announcement earlier in the day by P. Green Miller, chief prohibition agent for Kentucky and Tennessee, that he had information girl high school students were employed to run liquor brought quick denial from S. B. Tinsley, principal, and a request Mr. Miller make all facts in connection with the allegations public.

American Bankers To Help Germans

NEW YORK, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—American bankers, anticipating recommendations of the Dawes commission for financial assistance to Germany are making active preparations to raise capital for a German international credit bank. While official action has been withheld pending publication of the report, steps already have been taken to assure American leadership in financing such an institution whose needs would absorb a large share of the proposed international loan.

Subscriptions to the bank's capital will be made by virtually all of this country's leading financial institutions, it appears. Prominent international banks have indicated their willingness to assist in raising America's quota, although the manner and extent of their participation will be determined by the nature of the Dawes report.

In addition to supplying funds for the establishment of the German bank, American financial interests, it is believed, will open the way for participation by France, Belgium and other foreign nations, whose assistance in financing the rehabilitation of Germany is one of the essential conditions on which the Dawes report has been framed.

Gardens Cure For Divorce

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Gardens as a cure for divorce was suggested by Miss Martha C. Gunterberg, Chicago, former president of the Ladies' Society of American Florists, exhibiting at the sixth national flower show here, Miss Gunterberg declared:

"I have never known of a divorce in the family of a successful commercial grower of flowers. I think there are more silver and golden wedding celebrations among horticulturists than in any other calling. Their flowers keep them happy."

CHILD IS BADLY BURNED; MAY DIE

Itelen Louise, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cantrell of Middle Road, New Boston, is in serious condition from burns suffered when her clothing caught fire while playing in the home. The child was burned about the abdomen, arms and hands.

The mother was in the yard back of the home while Itelen Louise and her brother Claire, four years old, were in a front room of the house. The mother was attracted by the screams of the children and on running into the front part of the home found the tot in flames. She picked her up and held her against her body, smothering the flames in this manner. The mother's hands were burned when she tore part of the burning clothes from the child.

Dr. T. H. McCann was called and he found the most serious burns were about the abdomen, arms, and stomach, but provision was made for a change in the brackets to which they would apply so that the revenue increase of $12,000,000 which would have resulted from the house increase will be effected.

By further action at the night session insurance companies were exempted from the increase of 15 per cent voted recently by the committee in the corporation tax of 12 1/2 per cent. Chairman Smoot explained the companies would be unable to benefit with other corporations by the repeal of the special tax on capital stock which was made to offset the increase in the corporation tax.

The tax on radio sets was fixed at 10 per cent on all selling for $15 or more to apply to the source of manufacture. Likewise the tax on mah jong sets was placed at 10 per cent, on manufacturers or importers, on all selling for $5 or more.

In addition to the reduction on automobile taxes voted by the house, including repeal of the three per cent on automobile trucks, the chassis of which sell for less than $1,000 and the cutting in half of the five per cent tax on automobile tires and accessories, it was voted by the senate committee to repeal the tax on auto-

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG!

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feed young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a yellow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a billious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for cod liver oil, is gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyance which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color, 10c and 25c.

Red Star Bus Line Quits

Operators of the Red Star bus line running between Portsmouth and Columbus have discontinued the service, giving the entire field to the Scioto Valley Motor Bus Company, which operates between Portsmouth and Chillicothe.

The machines of the Red Star line have not been running since Tuesday when the state supreme court decided against the Red Star line in refusing them a certificate to operate in competition with the traction line between Chillicothe and Columbus.

As fast as machines reached their home ports after the decision, they were taken off and officials gave out the statement that they had suspended operations indefinitely.

Britain Losing Skilled Craftsmen

LONDON, April 4.—(By the Associated Press).—During the first nine months of 1923 Great Britain lost 20,500 skilled craftsmen from its metal and engineering trades through emigration and 12,207 of these have taken up permanent residence in the United States according to an official statement in the house of commons.

This serious drain upon British industry has been for some time a subject of alarmed comment and exponents of the labor point of view say capitalism is driving the workers abroad by keeping down wages and seeking to reduce them still further.

Another view is voiced by the Daily Chronicle, which attributes the move to the depression in the engineering trade combined with higher wages paid in America. The newspaper dwells upon the advantages held by the United States in its vast natural resources and large home market.

Poincare Gets Vote of Confidence

PARIS, April 4.—(By the Associated Press).—M. Poincare once more is assured of the support of parliament. His cabinet, reorganized after the defeat over the pension bill was given a majority of 257 last night by the chamber of deputies, which approved the Poincare policies of "reparations, security and economy" by passing a vote of confidence of 408 to 151.

The premier was obliged however, to wield the big stick to bring the recalcitrant ones into line. Only a threat to present the resignation of the entire cabinet unless a vote were quickly taken to put an end to the obstructive tactics of the opposition.

M. Poincare reiterated his oft-made statement that France would remain in the Ruhr until the reparations were completely paid and assured the chamber that the government regardless of the expert committee's reports, would accept no reduction in the German debt.

20 Per Cent Gain In Industrial Accidents

CHICAGO, April 4.—(By the Associated Press).—A 20 per cent increase in industrial accidents in the United States in 1923, is estimated by the National Safety Council from statistics from state insurance agencies and industrial concerns. The total for the year is estimated at 3,000,000 accidents of which 23,000 were fatal and 115,000 caused permanent disability.

Increased production, many new employees and a let down in safety by employers and employees are held as factors. Many steel plants, public utilities, mines, railroads, automobile and general manufacturing concerns made excellent records.

Hardway To Succeeds Jacobs

COLUMBUS, O., April 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Lieutenant Colonel O. E. Hardway, of Columbus, executive officer of the 10th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, who has been appointed superintendent of the state arsenal here, soon will take up his duties, it was said today.

Hardway succeeds Lieutenant Bertram Jacobs, who was arrested last week by federal officials for alleged sale of government military property.

Police Chief Shot

ATLANTA, GA., April 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Albert Wells, chief of police of Woodbury, Ga., shot yesterday by Beach Thrasher, fifteen-year-old negro, who later was lynched, died at a hospital here early today.

Wells was shot through the head when he sought to arrest the boy for stealing money from a bank, the lad wresting the policeman's pistol from his hand.

Educational Conference In Session In Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Present leaders in education today were charged with weaving into a child's activities a unified course of experience. Dr. Orville G. Brim, of the College of Education, Ohio State University, addressing county school superintendents at the Fourth Annual Education Conference being held on the University campus, told the teachers assembled "education is useless unless it secures for the individual re-organization of his point of view."

Dr. Brim said that the child's education must bring to the child a better adaptation to his present environment and a greater likelihood that further adjustments will be made when needed. Such an education is the fruit of real experience and not of usual routine and formal school work," Dr. Brim said.

Other speakers at the second day's session of the conference included Dr. E. R. Johnston, director of the training school at Vineland, N. J.; Dr. J. P. W. Crawford, University of Pennsylvania; Lucien Patterson, of the Piquette, Ohio, public schools; J. W. Smith, principal of the Woodward evening school at Toledo; Professor C. W. Foulk, department of chemistry, Ohio State University; Ford O. Harrison, principal of the Wells school, Canton, Ohio; V. T. Thayer, principal of the Ethical Culture High School, New York City.

Both have been connected with the department for some time. Herman Schafer, of Bellaire, resigned as head of the department some time ago.

K. for the night of Wednesday, April 16. Tickets are being sold by all members of the two organizations. A social hour followed last night's business session. Mrs. Verna Huffman was chairman of the committee in charge.

Confesses to Robbery

WELLSTON, O., April 4.—John Cecil, 19, well known about town, has made confessions to burglarizing the store of Stroth Brothers, hardware dealers, and carrying away a quantity of merchandise.

Cecil is an escaped inmate of the Lancaster Industrial school. His location was known but it was thought to try him out to see if he behaved himself. Instead of prosecution on the new charge he may be returned to the reform school.

Damage Slight
The fire department was called to 1302 Kinney street at six o'clock this morning to extinguish a small blaze on the roof of a house occupied by James Williams and owned by Eke Ferguson. The blaze was extinguished without any serious damage being done to the roof.

Church Destroyed

BALTIMORE, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The Harlem Park Methodist Episcopal Church in Gilmore street, West Baltimore, was virtually wrecked by fire late last night, which broke out in the basement from an undetermined cause about an hour after the Baltimore conference of the denomination had adjourned its meeting for the night. The church was valued at $100,000 and insured for approximately $65,000.

It was the second time in sixteen years that the congregation's place of worship was burned, the structure ruined last night having been built in 1909, a year after the previous fire.

Talked On Roosevelt

Rev. Walter H. Smith, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, yesterday evening delivered his celebrated address on "Theodore Roosevelt, American" before a good sized and appreciative audience at Allen Chapel A. M. E. church.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

The water that comes from the same spring cannot be both sweet and salt.

Merry is the feast-making until we come to the reckoning.

A true reformation must begin at the upper end.

The fairer the hostess the heavier the reckoning.

Over-refinement is the herald of the decay of a country.

The nearest boor is the nearest kinsman when the calf lies in the ditch.

Let us have florins and we shall find cousins.

It doesn't matter what religion a sick man believes in.

It is as well to remember, now and then, not to remember all we know.

There never was, and never will be, a country without a religion.

How readily do men at ease prescribe to those who are sick at heart.

He cannot be strict in judging who does not wish others to be strict in judging him.

Iowa Democrats To Place

Complete Ticket In Field

DAVENPORT, IOWA, April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—A complete state congressional ticket is to be placed in the field by Iowa Democrats who yesterday at their state convention here selected a delegation to the national convention in New York.

A statement issued today at headquarters of Clyde L. Helling, new national committeeman, announced that the party was to be "completely reorganized."

Mr. Herring who is state manager for W. G. McAdoe in the latter's presidential nomination campaign, also reiterated his belief that Iowa's delegation at New York would be a McAdoe delegation, although the convention did not make a presidential endorsement.

Judge David Ladd Rockwell, of Olin, McAdoe's campaign manager, also declared in a statement today that Iowa would strongly support the former treasury secretary.

SENATOR LODGE ACCUSED OF PIGEON-HOLING WORLD COURT PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, was directly charged on the floor of the Senate today with pigeon-holing President Harding's world court proposal in the Foreign Relations Committee.

The charge was made by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, during a denial of charges that the Democrats had by continuing investigation delayed legislation. He also charged Senator Pepper, Republican, Pennsylvania, who attacked the Democrats in a speech yesterday at Portland with trying to hide himself and his political associates behind the dead president.

"That is one of the cases I had in mind," Senator Robinson said, "when I referred to those the Senator from Massachusetts wanted to block. I say now the chairman of that committee (Senator Lodge, of the Foreign Relations Committee) has effectively and, I think, permanently pigeon-holed the world court proposal."

70-Year-Old Man Claims Woman Dry Agent

Forced Him Out Of Bath Tub To Search Home

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Complaint that a woman dry agent entered the bath room of Frank Dolinsky, while he was taking a bath and forced him to accompany her on a search of his house was included in the affidavit sworn to by Dolinsky before County Prosecutor

Stanton last night. "She pulled the stopper from the tub and said 'Come along with me while we look things over,'" Dolinsky said. Dolinsky, who is 70 years old, in a sworn statement to Stanton, charged that two women who accompanied three men on a raid upon his home, February 28, stole $150 and two watches. Warrants were expected to be issued in the case today. Prosecutors Stanton today will prosecute cases against three dry raiders charged with petit larceny in the theft of nine quarts of liquor taken in a dry raid.

claimed McCoy hid himself of a couple of half pints of moonshine liquor by smashing the bottles in the street. McCoy admitted throwing the bottles but claimed the vials contained a solution of medicine which he bought at the Stabler drug store. He gave a sardonic grin when he was afraid the officer would beat him up.

MR. BOWSER GIVES UP YOU, I AND THE OTHER FELLOW

He Can't Find Dignity and So He Does Without It

THE Bowser had finished dinner and had returned to the sitting-room.

Mr. Bowser had smoked half of his cigar and had thrown it away. The cat had his ears boxed for trying to sit on his lap.

He wanted to say something, but did not know how to begin. Finally, after a good deal of hitching around, he broke the ice with: "Mrs. Bowser, will you answer me a question or two?"

"Yes, twenty of them, if you like," she answered.

"Thank you very much. What is dignity?"

Mrs. Bowser closed the book she was reading and reflected a long minute before she answered. "Well, it is hard to say just what dignity is. What one person calls conceit another person calls dignity. For instance, John D., the richest man in America. He will converse with you just like a common man, for all of that. There are men in New York City who are not worth ten thousand dollars, and yet if you wanted to ask them a question they put on as much dignity as if they were worth millions."

"There is one man on this block whom I like to see come home from his day's work. He is rich, but he bows to every one and has a smile for all. His children meet him at the door and he laughs with them. He never has a row with the vegetable peddler and never tries to ride a bicycle. When his house needs painting he hires a painter, and when it needs to be reshingled he hires a carpenter. I have seen him go away ten minutes before you do and always has a smile with him. I have no doubt the conductor on the car likes to see him."

"All this," said Mr. Bowser, "does not exactly tell me what dignity is. I believe in every man fixing up his own house, and some men do not. It is not exactly a case of dignity, but more in how anybody behaves. I was appointed sidewalk inspector yesterday. I looked at seven different holes in the sidewalk and I have resigned. There is no dignity in looking at holes in the sidewalk, and I will call me 'old man' and 'old horse.' How can one get dignity in anything of that kind? Yes, sir, I served one day and I resigned. My office boy, you and the cook talk about dignity, but how am I going to find it?"

"Oh, it will come along by and by," said Mrs. Bowser. "You let the roller skates, the painting and the bicycle alone and dignity will come to you."

Bowser looked as if he doubted, and the next morning proved that he was right. He did not take his street car at the usual corner, but decided to walk a few blocks.

He had not walked over three blocks when an old woman came running out of a house, and grabbing him by the breast with one hand she pointed to a shade tree and called out:

"Oh, sir, if you have a heart, please help me!"

"Madam, I have three or four hearts in my breast," replied Mr. Bowser and at the same time he made out a cat at the very top of the shade tree.

"The cat jumped up there last night and nobody can get her down," replied the old woman. "I can't climb and my niece can't, and so my cat was up there all night. Can you climb a tree?"

"I can," said Mr. Bowser. "I can be at the top of that tree in three minutes."

"Then, for Heaven's sake, help me! I can't offer you money, but I can be very grateful."

Bowser could not climb for shucks, but started in with all the confidence in the world. The woman saw he made a batch of climbing and wanted to call him back, but he said he would bring down the cat very soon.

Half a dozen men and boys saw him climbing and stopped in front of the house. The crowd, correctly, numbered one hundred persons, and they called out in various tones:

"Why, I never saw such poor climbing!"

"Look out, old man, or you'll fall!"

"Why don't you get an ax and cut down the tree?"

The woman got scared and entered her house, and then Bowser began to be afraid. A limb broke, and he came very near falling, and instead of the cat helping him out of his troubles, she bit and scratched at him whenever he put out his hand.

It was finally suggested by a humane man that the fire department be called out and have Mr. Bowser squatted out of the tree. He went to the fire house and said they were wanted to get Mr. Bowser down, and they arrived with hooks and ladders, and after a long struggle the victim was carried down the ladder under a fireman's arm.

Bowser tried to make a sneak as soon as possible, but the foreman of the hook and ladder company took him by the arm and stopped him to say:

"Here, fool, don't attempt to climb out a cloud for we haven't any ladders long enough. The cat would have come down if you would let her alone. You seem to be one of the kind who is always poking their nose in other folk's affairs."

"But that lady wanted me to climb the tree," persisted Mr. Bowser.

"And you were fool enough to do it," replied the foreman. "She is known far and wide as the old woman with a dozen cats, and the next time she wants you to climb a tree you make a run for it."

Bowser was glad to get away from the crowd. Many laughs followed him, and he did not feel safe until he had crossed the bridge to New York.

That night he told it all to Mrs. Bowser and she replied:

"Well, that was conceit on your part. You could not climb and you knew you could not, but you went right ahead. As I told you, conceit is not dignity. However, your adventure will not be published in the papers. You had better let cats alone in the future!"

"But when you are asked to oblige shouldn't you oblige?" asked Bowser.

"That is according," replied Mrs. Bowser.

"According to what?"

"According to what is a cat or something else."

THE NEXT TIME SHE WANTS YOU TO CLIMB A TREE - YOU MAKE A RUN FOR IT.

Queer Things Do Happen Every Day

A GIRL in Richmond has been found to have two hearts. Both are good and she may be called a good-hearted girl.

Forty years ago a cat scratched James Riley of North Carolina. The cat died years ago, but James is still alive to tell about it.

John Green, from Ohio, fell forty-eight feet from a pear tree and landed on a dog and killed him. Maybe that is what dogs are for.

They knew how to make false teeth fifty years ago, and they do not make them any better now. This leads us to remark that a widow in Boston wept so over her dead husband's body that her false teeth fell into the grave and were covered up. She must now get a new set of teeth as well as a new husband.

Under the new laws of Tennessee you cannot let your dog go to church with you and you cannot expect your dog to be any better than he used to be.

Henry Cline, a boy of fourteen, living in Missouri, shot at seven crows on a fence and a fellow who was working in a field. That boy has done his duty and will never shoot again.

There are races in China who have never been heard of by the outside world. They have no money and no education and yet get along very well. One does not have to be rich and educated to enjoy one's self.

In Duluth Willie Kay encouraged a goat to fight a dog and the dog not only got licked, but Willie's father had to pay a fine of twenty dollars.

In China it takes a half an hour for a fire engine to get out and get to work, and that is time for twenty houses to burn up.

A Kentucky cow has given birth to a calf who has eight legs. He can turn himself over and walk on his back if he wants to and no boy will ever be able to catch him.

Harry Simmons, a red-headed boy of Wisconsin, climbed a building to go to the top and ask his father for a dollar. He fell and broke his neck and the grieving father is in a dollar, but out a son.

They caught a fish at Halifax that has a face like a woman's. That is nothing very strange. Some man will come along with a fish hook and capture her.

The best acre of potatoes raised in Wyoming this year was the acre that Miss Jennie Crawford raised and took care of. Her acre turned out fifty bushel more than any other and all the men are mad about it.

Earl Crawford, a boy of twelve, living in Philadelphia, put a kerosene can in the oven to warm it up. The can was forgotten and it got red-hot and it blew up and hurt seven people. Earl was hurt worst of all, and the doctors fear that he will die. When a boy wants to experiment he had better put his finger in the mouth of a crocodile than to fool with a kerosene can.

"We are now on a strike. I wanted more food to eat and you have not given it to me."

"Give me time to think," replied the waiter, but it was ten minutes before he said:

"I have also decided to strike. I will withdraw you from the cart, and you can go where you like."

"But I must have more corn and less to eat," I will perish."

"Yes, but that isn't my business," replied the waiter. "I need money and I must raise corn and hay to make it. You want corn and hay, but you don't want to work for it, and therefore we must part."

Moral:—When we seek to do a man a favor we may do him a great favor instead.

The Carter and the Horse.

As a Carter was driving a cart load of corn to market his horse stopped in the middle of the hill and refused to go on.

"That is not a heavy load," protested the Carter. "You have drawn a heavier load lots of times and have made no complaint. What is this new thing you are springing on me?"

"That master!" replied the horse.

At Yonkers a boy was given a shotgun and sent to a barn to kill rats. After killing one horse, a hired man and a neighbor, he went back to the house and stated that he could not find any rats.

At a camp meeting in Kentucky a negro owned up to stealing seven mules. On trial the judge let him go. His honor said that religion and mules did not go together.

A mouse stole a hundred dollars from a merchant in Baltimore, and did it so neat that the clerk was sent to jail for five years. It was only when the mouse was after another hundred to make a nest with that it was discovered who the thief was.

HE DID NOT GET THERE.

"So you went out on a farm?" he said to an acquaintance.

"Well, not quite," was the reply. "I got within two miles of it, and then I jumped out of the wagon."

"The doctors advised that you go up there, eh?"

"I did. Three doctors told me I had better go on a farm. I went to a farm and asked a farmer to take me. I asked what time I was to get up in the morning and he gave me the program. I was to rise at three in the morning and chop wood for two hours. Then I was to begin milking the cows. When I got through milking I was to have breakfast composed of fat pork and cornmeal. Then I was to work all day in the field. When the night came I was to milk the cows and help look over fifteen bushel of old potatoes, and then I was to sleep on the hay with an old quilt over me. I heard him all through, and then I jumped out of the wagon and ran. I went to work in a stone yard instead of on a farm. I feel as if I could lick a thunderstorm and never had such an appetite in my life. Farm, be damned! Sleeping on the hay, be damned, and everything else damned, except working in a stone yard. The doctors may talk and talk, but they will never get me on a farm again!"

IT WAS TOO LONESOME.

"Well, did you like the house?" asked the landlord, as a woman entered his office.

"I would not take it as a gift," she replied.

"But what is wrong with it?"

"Isn't it a good neighborhood?"

"Oh, I don't find any fault with the neighborhood," replied the woman. "Isn't the furnace all right?"

"It's all right as far as I know," was the woman's reply.

"Then what's the matter with the house?"

"It is just this, sir," said the woman. "No vegetable peddlers pass the house and book agents call, and it will be so lonely that I will go crazy in a week."

HE DID NOT GET A JOB.

He walked softly into a police station, and deposited a large satchel on the floor and said to the officer at the desk:

"Sir, my name is William De Motte and I hail from Arizona. My profession is that of a hangman. Do you wish to hire me?"

"No, sir," was the reply. "I will hang anybody you say at three dollars a hang."

"There is nobody to hang," replied the sergeant.

"Then I will be gone," said William as he picked up his satchel. "No one to hang and I have reduced the price more than half! You must be a hard-up town, sir—very hard up."

And William left a trail of blood behind him as he made for the train.

FRED WATER'S SISTER Fables of the Day

Send In Your Order Early If You Want a Dozen Or So.

THERE were six or eight loungers at the store of Simon & Co., at Bakerville, when a young woman came in and immediately attracted the attention of everybody.

She was, first of all, good-looking. She was well-dressed.

She had come by stage, and had finished her breakfast at the hotel.

A boy had arrived with an automobile for her, and it was waiting for her.

The young woman asked for Mr. Simons, and as he rose up she said:

"My brother Fred is on the staff of the railroad. I was to meet him at my aunt's house and she lives out on the Oxford road."

"I think I know her," was Mr. Simon's reply. "She is an old lady about seventy years old, isn't she?"

"That is my aunt," said the young woman, "and I am going to motor out there. My brother will be along soon, and you can tell him I have gone. The highway out to my aunt's is a plain one, isn't it?"

"I don't know about that," was the answer. "A lot of men were there last winter cutting down trees, and some travelers have told me that they were badly confused. I guess you will come out all right."

The young woman asked to see some silk and while she was looking at it a resident of the town came in and said:

"Boys, we are going to have a big thunderstorm soon and you had better stay right here."

Several men had noticed that it was growing dark, and the speaker continued:

"Yes, sir, we are going to have a whopper of a storm! It is coming up slowly but surely, and we are going to have oceans and oceans of rain water."

The newcomer found a seat beside the others, and a young man rose up and said:

"I came here to meet a Mr. Waters, but I see he is not present. I belong to his bridge-building corps and I wanted to see him this morning."

Both Mr. Simon and the girl caught the words, and the young woman looked earnestly in the young man's direction.

replied the young woman. "Please tell my brother that I have gone on."

The minutes passed and no Mr. Waters appeared. The thunderstorm came on so slowly that all thought it would amount to anything, but by and by it progressed faster, and it was then that the stranger went over to the hotel stables and got out his machine and went after the young woman.

She and her automobile were just disappearing in the distance, and he had to go at a lively pace. When he had come within a quarter of a mile of her he kept his pace with her, and for two miles it was an even thing. Then the young woman looked back and saw that she was being followed, and saw also that the driver of the second machine was the young man she had seen

Then the young woman looked back and saw that she was being followed, and saw also that the driver of the second machine was the young man she had seen

The young man was not so far behind her but what he saw her movements, and he was angry to think that she had not waited for him to come up. It was a bad looking country and there were various reasons why no one should seek shelter in a barn in a thunderstorm.

He put on more speed to arrive at the barn to find that Miss Waters was not to be seen. Her machine stood out in the rain, but the young woman was not anywhere around.

The reason was, as was told later on, she had no sooner stopped her car in front of the barn than a small dog opened and a man appeared and invited her to take shelter.

The young man did not know this, and he began calling to the young woman by name. If she had not entered the barn, where was she? He kept calling out to her, and growing uneasy every moment, when the small dog opened again and an evil-looking man, who had painted on his clothes, called to the young man:

"Come, there you are," cried the young man as he caught sight of Miss Waters, and then he was struck insensible by a club. When he came to he found himself tied hand and foot, and this was also the case with the young woman.

There were three men in the barn, and all had been using paint. They were twenty-two automobiles in the barn and everyone had been sold. They were being repainted so as to disguise them.

One of the painters, who was said to be the boss, said to the young man:

"Now see what you get by meddling. We have to use you rough as we are not going to let you go and tell what you have seen."

"You are not going to resort to murder?" inquired Miss Waters. "You will go to jail when they find out about you."

The lightning was playing around sharp, and the men grouped themselves around the girl. There was a crash and it was half an hour before the young woman and her brother were freed from their bonds.

On the floor lay the three men, but the barn had not taken fire.

There was much to tell, and after it had been told Fred introduced the young man as James Stern, who was going to build a bridge.

"One day," a month later, Fred Waters' sister said to him:

"I think this man James Stern is a love with me."

"Well, why not?" was the reply. "A month passed and the young woman said to her brother:

The Bear and the Wolf.

A WOLF was one day sneaking along a Peasant's cottage in hopes to find a leg of mutton which the good wife had thrown away. To his great surprise he came across a Bear, which was devouring a large and liberal lot of plane strings.

"Of course, you will divide," said the Wolf as he came near.

"Not any divvy here," replied the Bear as he swelled up with his importance.

"Oh, come now, you can spare me half of the meal," said the Wolf as he still lingered near.

"I warn you to be gone," said the Bear. "You might stay here all day and you would not even get a bite of these strings. Don't attempt any tricks on me or I'll give you a cuff on the ear."

The Wolf jumped in and made a snatch at the feast, but Bruin was on the lookout for him. With his mighty paw he gave the Wolf a blow and knocked him about thirty feet, and it took the Wolf twenty minutes to recover his wits. He now resorted to strategy. Creeping near Bruin, he said:

"Have you no curiosity about you?"

"Not a good deal," was the reply, "but you can't shoot off your mouth and I'll consider what you say. No more grabbing. I boss this job and I don't want any one butting in. What is it you would say?"

The Wolf had noticed that the Bear had poor fur and he now smiled and said:

"I have heard that the bear loves honey. Is it not so?"

"Yes, it is so," replied the Bear. "I would go ten miles any day to get a bit of honey."

"You can get it nearer than that," said the Wolf. "These comical things you see out there are beehives and you have only to tip one over."

"Remember, you are a better fellow than I thought you were," said the Bear. And he at once let go of his banquet and made for the beehive. With one blow he sent the hive whirling, and the next minute the bees came flying out and stung the bear about twenty times, and he was rolling over and over in his agony, when a Peasant came out with his gun and shot him dead.

The Wolf escaped to the forest, and he lay down under a tree, he thought of a moral and spat it out:

MORALS.

Don't be a fool.

The Two Millers.

One of the two millers who owned a creek was encouraged by his neighbors to build a mill for the grading of their corn. His project was a success from the start and this made the other miller sore. At a great expense he also built a mill, and putting a very low price on his corn, he drew away other men's custom. Not satisfied with this, however, he bought a bushel of peanuts and broke into the other's mill at night and mingled his peanuts in the corn to be ground next day. To his surprise, the other miller's custom increased and he heard much of a new brand of flour. All his customers spoke of it as they deserted him, and in a short time he had none at all. When he came to know the truth it was his peanuts that did the job. No man had ever eaten peanuts with his corn, but now they were a great improvement.

Moral:—When we seek to do a man a favor we may do him a great favor instead.

The Carter and the Horse.

As a Carter was driving a cart load of corn to market his horse stopped in the middle of the hill and refused to go on.

"That is not a heavy load," protested the Carter. "You have drawn a heavier load lots of times and have made no complaint. What is this new thing you are springing on me?"

"That master!" replied the horse.

MORALS.

Don't be a fool.

When you find a good thing divide it with other fellows.

When you think you own the earth you will find something bigger than you.

The Gentleman and the Burglar.

A Gentleman had lost his last ten dollars playing cards one night and returned to his house at midnight to find a strange man in his parlor.

"But who are you?" he asked.

"Excuse me, but I am called Burklar Bill and I came here to burglar. I have looked through the lower part of your house, but have nothing worth taking away. Two hours have I spent here and not a cent coming in."

"My dear sir," said the Gentleman, "I owe you at least ten dollars for your time, but I haven't it. You probably saw me on the street putting on style and so you thought you would rob me. Let me say to you, however, that my fall overcoat is in pawn. I have worn this hat two years, and my carpets are to be sold tomorrow, and my watch is in pawn. I have no way of ever getting my winter coat."

"I will bid you good-night," said the Burklar. And he left a live spot on the table and went his way.

Moral:—Play poker and join a club.

Spring Is Here! Tra La!

Divorce Suit Dismissed

When, during the course of the hearing that the parties had not lived in Ohio long enough to gain a legal residence in the state, Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Friday promptly dismissed the petition in the divorce suit of May Collins, Selotville, against Adam Collins.

Plaintiff told the court that two weeks after she married Collins in August, 1922, he deserted her and had since failed to return or support her although she declared she had impregnated him to return and live with her.

Attorney A. R. Campbell, Jr., appeared for plaintiff.

Layher Granted Divorce

John A. Layher, 1521 Jackson street, was granted a decree by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court yesterday, divorcing him from Marjorie Layher, of Ninth street, near Waller, shoemaker.

Layher said he married the defendant in December, 1919, and the decree was granted on the grounds of willful absence and neglect, after he told the court that the wife deserted him without cause or excuse and refused to return. The wife when called to testify in her own behalf admitted that she abandoned Layher more than three years ago. Attorney George W. Sheppard for plaintiff.

Suit In Foreclosure

Ordered To Pay Alimony

Judge Thomas entered an order Friday requiring Henry Bredeman, plumber, to pay his wife, Velma Bredeman, $100 a month, the sum of $20 a week, alimony pending the final hearing of her suit for divorce and alimony recently instituted in Common Pleas court.

The wife told the court that Bredeman had been drinking heavily for the past four weeks and is now in custody for non-payment of a $50 fine assessed against him in Municipal court on a drunkenness charge.

Taken Under Adversement

The divorce suit of Elizabeth Taber, 518 Third street, employed at the American restaurant, against Ernest Taber, 218 Madison street, brickworker, was heard by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Friday and then taken under adversement.

The wife told the court they were married in April, 1914, and separated in September, 1923, because she claimed Taber failed to support her and their child, now seven years old, and that during the time she lived with him he was insanely jealous of her, accused her of keeping company with other men and beat and abused her. Taber denied her statements and declared that she frequently assaulted him and asserted that she abandoned him. Attorney C. P. Higgins appeared for plaintiff.

Given Divorce and Former Name

On the grounds of cruelty and neglect, Nancy Hall, domestic, 1535 Sixth street, was divorced from Ellis Hall, present whereabouts unknown, by a decree entered by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Friday after she testified that Hall failed to support her properly and mistreated and abused her which led to their separation in September, 1923. She was also restored to her maiden name of Nichols. Attorney A. R. Campbell, Jr., appeared for plaintiff.

W. A. CRIM CALLS TANLAC THE WORKINGMAN'S FRIEND

Tells How Famous Tonic Restored His Strength And Overcame Troubles, Enabling Him To Stick On His Job.

When W. A. Crim, 3534 Decker Ave., Canton, Ohio, recently spoke of Tanlac as "the workingman's friend," he was not exaggerating. He is a man of thousands of workers to whom the famous treatment has brought comfort and health and consequent freedom from loss of time and money.

"While living in Akron," said he, "I got so weak and run-down I had to quit work but Tanlac has put me back on the job in the pink of condition."

"I had quinsy so bad I had to have three operations and only a little food kept me alive. This trouble, along with nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness pulled my weight down twenty-two pounds in a few days."

"Finally my doctor recommended Tanlac to build me up and I now have an appetite like a buck private. All my lost weight has come back and I am strong and well as before. I am, certainly, the workingman's friend."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million Bottles Sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

Mother Finds Babe Dead in Bed

Mrs. Clyde Copley of Harrisonville pike, this side of The Divide, awakened about four o'clock Friday morning to find her four weeks old baby daughter, Mary Jane, cold in death. A physician was called from New Boston, but he found that the baby had passed away about a half hour before. Coroner Virgil Fowler was called and after an examination of the body found that death was due to an enlarged thymus.

The baby had trouble breathing since birth, but during the last couple of days this condition apparently was yielding to treatment. Last night the baby appeared as well as ever. It was four weeks old today.

Mr. and Mrs. Copley have four other children, Cora Belle, Genevieve Lucille, Ray Martin and George Elwood.

JOHNSON PAYS US HIS RESPECTS

EDITOR J. W. JOHNSON, of the Circleville Democrat and Watchman, has been wedded to the Anti-Saloon League so long that he looks upon the world and its people through no other spectacles. Being and you are a saint, differ and you are damned. He has a martyr's robe ready for that convicted crook and penitentiary inmate, "Bill" Anderson, and sackcloth and ashes for Governor Smith, of New York, who daily demonstrates that he is everything clean and decent that Anderson is not. And all because the one cloaked his crookedness in Anti-Saloon League garments while the other chooses to believe differently. There can be no honest difference of opinion in the Johnson dictum of things.

Right now Johnson has other woes. In the face of the great record of James M. Cox as a believer in law enforcement, Johnson opposes him because he does not fall down and worship the Ohio annex of the republican party. Johnson is for McAdoo, Doheny oil, corporation tax rebate money and all, though he does make a wry face and holds his nose when he proclaims his allegiance. Unable to stand the odor of the McAdoo scandal any longer he turns his attention to our devoted head for a minute or two, hoping to catch his breath for a fresh outburst of enthusiasm for the oil soaked candidate for the presidential nomination. And here is what our Circleville friend has to say about us:

IT TAKES ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE TO MAKE A WORLD, INCLUDING EDITORS

"Some few issues, since, it will be recalled, we made reference to an alleged comment by the esteemed Portsmouth Times, relative to our visit to Washington. The comment was made in our absence and we did not have the privilege of 'lampin' it as they say over in Al Smith's town. Monday, a friend sent us the comment, clipped from a copy of the Times and which had come under his observation. Here it is:

"It takes all kinds of editors to make a newspaper world. Here is Editor J. W. Johnson, of the Circleville Democrat-Watchman, finest man and most entertaining writer in the world, telling his readers in a two column article, first page, right hand column, that he is about to have the treat of his long life. He is going to spend a week in Washington attending the convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America."

"Like all good editors, our esteemed friend of The Times, drew on his imagination for the 'treat' in store. Having attended other conventions of the kind in Washington in times past, it is unlikely that we were looking forward to any unusual experience. We have been in the prohibition business for about fifty years and it ought not, therefore, to be considered out of the ordinary routine for us to attend a confab in Washington or elsewhere. What would be unusual, though, if not more or less miraculous would be the attendance upon an Anti-Saloon League convention of the editor of The Times. Imagine, if you can, gentle reader, the presence of a Cox Democrat and editor, in such a convention, fraternizing with Wayne B. Wheeler, Jim White, Tom Hare and F. L. Dustman. In other words, it is not news, to print that Johnson is going to a prohibition convention. But it certainly would be a first page, double head item to be able to say that Editor Harry Taylor, was in attendance upon a convention other than that of sorrowful recollection and tearful memory."

Well, that ought to hold us a little while. But we fear our editorial brother is holding us in low esteem. Else why did he not also have Convict No. 75,745, present address Auburn, New York, listed among the notables we might have met had we journeyed down to Washington a few weeks ago with him? When we do go with Johnson we want to meet all of his friends and co-workers, whether in or out of jail.

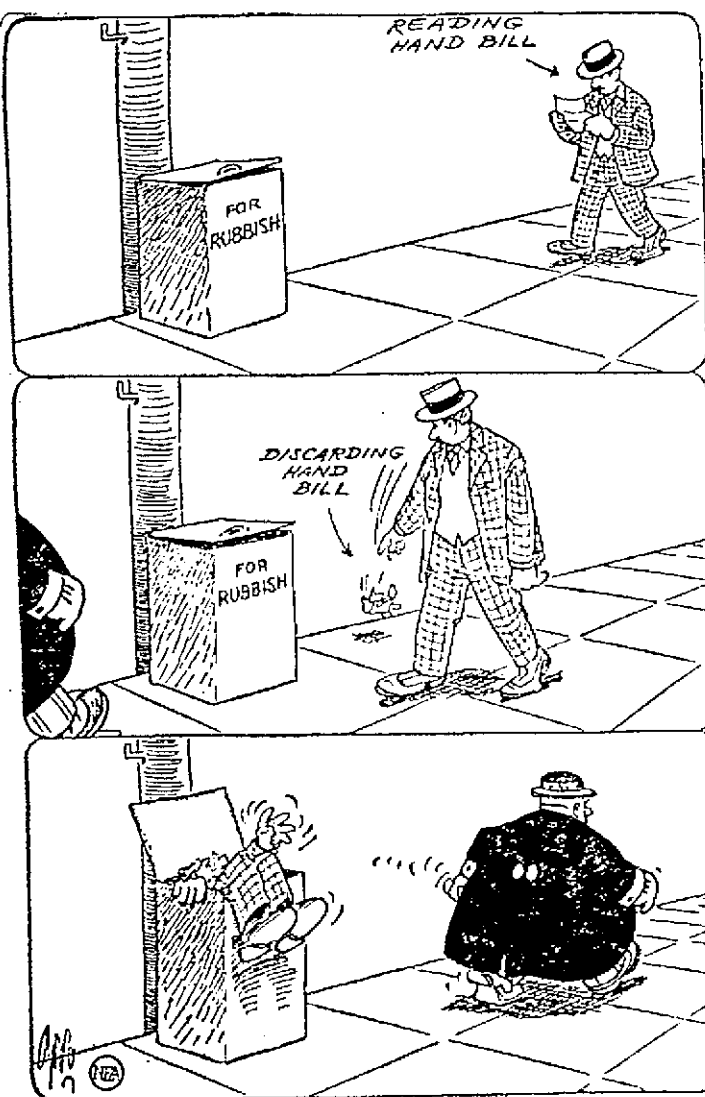

The rest of us who paid our street assessments wonder why some $20,000 worth have been allowed to slumber and be passed by, year after year, with no attempt at collection. Council should collect or else pass out the word that you need not pay if you do not want to.

Another spring sign is "onion sets for sale."

Married men whose wives can cook live longer than single men.

Spring fever makes you feel like a doughnut hole without a doughnut.

Nothing is as bad as it could be. Suppose bedbugs sang all night long like mosquitoes do?

It gets 70 degrees below zero at the North Pole and at a party when you forget yourself and cuss.

What limitations surround the English language! A writer says Bill Bryan returned to "private life" in 1915.

England's hangman has quit after an extinguishing career of 23 years. Since he received only $25 for each "job" few folks blame him.

We mingle our tears with those of Safety Director George Koerner. Here George had picked out a nice, new little automobile, red paint, wire wheels and all. And then what does a cruel council do but go and buy him a second-hand car, of the 1917 vintage.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 4.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: Fifty-seventh street. Now the man-sequin's promenade. Here's where producers hunt for beautiful show girls. And where most of the fine frocks and hats are made.

Smart ladies in riding togs waiting under the porte cochere for mounts. Lazy and languid women with wolf-hounds and swagback Pekes. Pardon while I titter behind my fan! But there's a man with pink spats. Marked down permanent waves.

The Floradora apartments. Who remembers when they used to call the bicycle a safety? A narrow cobble street. Richly colored with ivydriness. The swan lake in Central Park. Where young city lovers go to look at the moon. O, to be young again!

Now for a top seat on a bus. The fellow next to me has a suspicious bulging suitcase. Comfortable pipe smokers. The scolding jam at Forty-Second street. A stenographer weeping at a second story window. Poor girl!

The travel bureaus on the lower avenue. Displaying posters of palm trees. Turquoise skies. Pink coral reefs. Paveant romances stand about enthralled. Jane Cowl enjoying a brisk walk. At least I suppose she's enjoying it. A shop that sells books and dogs. Both fine friends.

Enough of the bus. Too chilly up here. The old Flatiron building looks tarnished. The queer haunts of West Twenty-third street. East Indian physiognomist. Spook parlors—where you learn your departed grandmother plays a tambourine. A Swedish alchemist.

Lafayette street. (We are here!). Mail trucks that kill and maim. Sidewalk card writers. Old women with withered lips. In no city are the aged as neglected as here. Pushcart men in constant dread of the police. A hot dog station. The walk is over. Woot! Woot!

In one of the midnight supper clubs where at intervals the lights are turned very low, patrons are enjoying something in startling effects the other night. A woman in a glittering black dress was dancing when the lights were dimmed. Suddenly her curly black hair seemed to glow with a phosphoric iridescence. It was a sort of greenish, silvery luminescent and rather breath taking. She proved to be the proprietress of a celebrated beauty parlor who is trying to introduce a new fashion. The effect was brought about by a lotion containing some luminous property.

Light pea green cloth is the prevailing shade of suiting for men this spring. Green hats, too, are to be the cat's meow. For those who wish to go further in the one-tone idea there are green shirts with collars to match, green ties, green socks and black shoes with green cloth tops. An ocean voyage might furnish the pea green complexion to complete the color scheme.

"Why don't you stop trying to be funny," writes one who signs herself Enthusiastic Reader, and adds "you are only interesting when you use your power of description." That may be true, E. R., and thanks for the trade list, but we were funny this morning at least to our wife when we missed the breakfast table chair and in clutching for anchorage upset two unshelled soft boiled eggs in our hair.

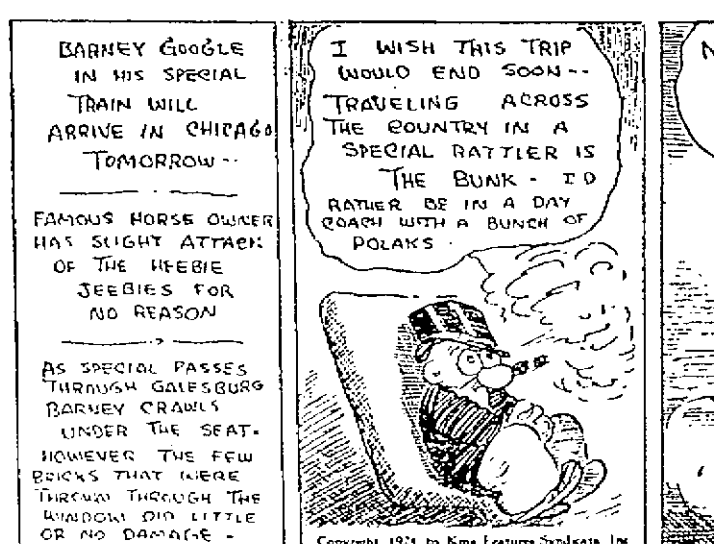

Being Scotch, however, I managed to salvage something out of the wreckage. After the breakfast table calamity I went to the bathroom and with what remained of the eggs in the hair had a most excellent egg shampoo. The barber charges 75 cents for that.

New York in a few years will rival the hanging gardens of Babylon. At high buildings in the future must have terraced levels, made obligatory by the zoning law. These levels are being filled with open air gardens, theatres, concert halls and churches.

House Verse
May choicest blessings on this house descend.
And make it livable from end to end.
When spring first tints the hills and meadows green,
May every doorway frame some lovely scene;
And when the torrid heat of summer scorches,
May cooling breezes blow through all the porches.
If autumn rains come beating on the roof,
May tiles and shingles keep it water-proof;
And when midwinter days are cold and dreary,
May every room and hall be warm and cheery.
So may the house be livable and dear
Through every season of the chang-ling year. —Estelle M. Hurll.

Caustic Comment
"Did anybody comment on the way you handled our new car?"
"One man made a brief remark, 'Fifty dollars and costs.'"—Boston Transcript.

Terminology
If there are any young ladies who hesitate to ask for garters they might follow the example of the Boston girl who said to the clerk:
"I want a set of elastic apparatus capable of being elongated and adjusted at pleasure, such as worn by the feminine portion of mankind on their locomotive members to keep in proper position and at the required attitude the habiliments of the tibia."

Local Heat
He—it didn't do any good to call down the janitor about our cold rooms, did it?
She—Yes, it did. I got all warmed up after I got through chasin' him around the engine room with a poker.

Precisely
A little boy in southern California was having his first glimpse of snow. "Oh, mother, what is it—what is it?" he shouted excitedly.
"Why, that is snow, George. Whatever did you think it was?"
"Snow! Why, it looks like popped rain!"

Careless of Him
Boy (home from college for the week-end)—Have you seen my new belt around the house?
Mother—No, did you put it around the house?

Trouble
"Well, Bill," said Uncle George, "how do you stand in school these days?"
"In the corner mostly," answered Bill.

A Matter of Veracity
The story is told of a Virginian who stayed out until 2 o'clock in the morning. His wife objected. He said he wasn't out as late as she thought he was. She declared she had heard the clock strike.
"What," said the Virginian, "you'll take the word of damn Yankee clock before mine?"

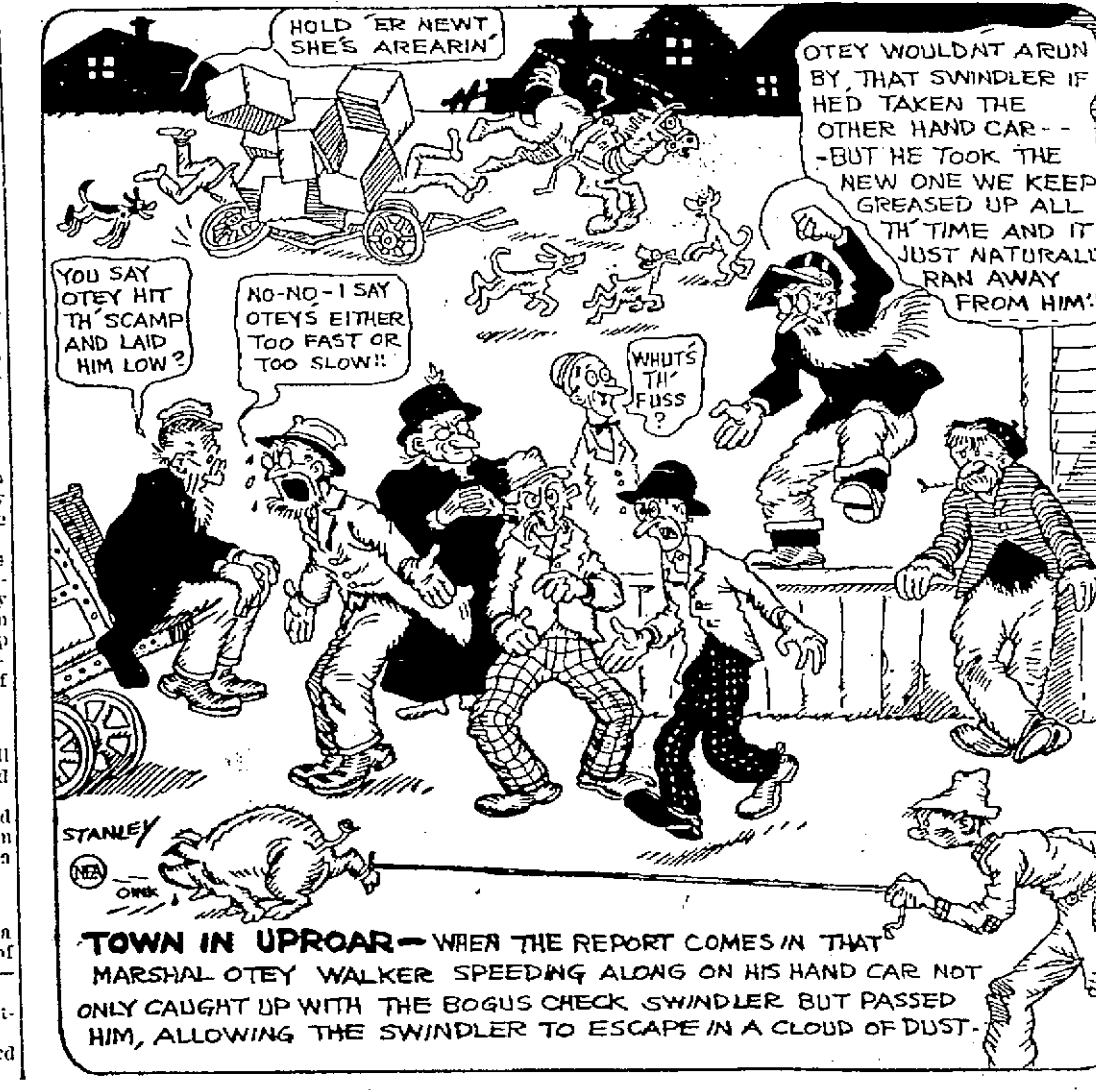

Happy Days
"Yes, Pershing and Wilson are great men, but I think Lincoln and Washington are the most interesting and most lovable characters in history."

"Why?"
"Because they were both born on holidays."

The Way of a Maid With a Man
He—"Would you accept a job monkey?"
She—"Oh, I would have to see father. This is so sudden.—Phoenix."
